NEW YORK, April 21.—On a mission he described as part of a "war against poverty," Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald of Britain, arrived on the Berengaria today, en route to Washington to discuss financial and economic problems with President Roosevelt.

The first leader of a world power to reach this country for the series of momentous conferences instituted by President Roosevelt in an effort to find a path to world economic recovery, MacDonald outlined his hopes and plans in a radio broadcast from New York harbor.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Warm weather is bringing smiles to the Girl Scouts of the city. It means to them that a part of the meetings will be outside in the forms of wicker roasts, hikes, picnics, etc. Then there will be camp later, too.

Next examination day for persons who wish to operate automobiles and other motor vehicles in Pennsylvania will be Tuesday, April 25. Last Tuesday 33 took the test. Twenty-three passed. In addition to knowing how to drive, persons must answer questions pertaining to the motor laws.

Quite a crowd of curious spectators gathered on the East Washington street bridge Thursday afternoon, watching a school boy trying to fish his hat out of the stream. His efforts were not meeting with success and he had the sympathy of the crowd.

Rabbits sometimes wander away from their accustomed haunts, Pa New observes. The other night one was dodging automobile traffic on Jefferson street, between Falls and Grant.

Golfers are hopeful that the rainy weather is at an end. Quite a number have already pried off the lid, but they were forced to wade around on a marshy course to do so. A few warm days with a little wind will soon dry off the surface of the ground.

Peach and apple trees are breaking into blossom in this district. Many beautiful trees are now to be seen in the city and in the area immediately surrounding it.

Famous Woman Flier And President's Wife In Night Plane Trip

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 21.—Delicate white gloves, brocade and slim heeled slippers have to take life as they find it with Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt and her friend, Amelia Earhart Putnam, trans-Atlantic flier.

Tomboy like, the pair topped off last evening with a joy-ride under misty night skies in a giant transport plane. Mrs. Putnam didn't even remove her gloves to fly the big ship from the capital, to Baltimore, and Mrs. Roosevelt spent part of the time in the pilot's cockpit.

Both thoroughly enjoyed the trip. Mrs. Roosevelt, not so accustomed to night flying as the aviatrix, caught a glimpse of the necklace of lights that seem to encircle Washington when seen from the air and called it "fairland."

The two, tall and willowy in the sleek silks of evening, seemed a strange, silent contrast amid the blackness and roaring motors of the tri-motored plane as Amelia controlled its movements with a slender, white-gloved hand. High-heeled, silken slippers applied the rudder pressure that swerved more than ten tons of steel and fabric to the right and left.

"It's amusing to think of a girl in evening dress flying a plane" the first lady of the land observed.

New State Beer Control Bill Is Now Pending In State Legislature

Would Grant The Licensing
Power To County Treasurers Instead Of Judges

Measure Being Rushed In Senate; May Be Passed
By Legislature

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 21.—In a virtual surrender to Governor Gifford Pinchot, Republican organization leaders today aligned themselves behind the beer control bill introduced by Senator John J. McClure, Delaware, to supplant the vetoed Sowers-Conner measure.

Simultaneously with its introduction at night session of the Senate, State Treasurer Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, said it has his entire approval. The bill was reported out of committee, given first reading and was to get second reading in another session of the upper chamber today.

Control Measure
Because the House has adjourned and only a few senators remain at the capitol, no definite idea could be obtained as to how much support the new bill will receive. Its provisions are in accord with the proposals of Governor Pinchot.

Except for the issuance of wholesale and retail licenses by county treasurers instead of judges, the bill is similar in most respects to that killed by the executive's veto.

The bill is purely a control and licensing measure. The tax department, introduced by Representative James H. McClure, Allegheny, was reported out of the House ways and means committee yesterday. This provides for a tax of $1.24 per barrel on beer.

Would Fix Rates
The regulatory bill empowers the state treasurer to issue manufacturers' licenses at a $1,000 fee and county treasurers to distribute wholesale and retail licenses. Wholesale in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties would be assessed (Continued On Page Two)

Hold Pelegore For June Term

Following a hearing before Alderman James C. Brice Thursday night, Gust Pelegore of Wampum was held for the June term of criminal court, charged with arson. Recently the Pelegore home in Wampum was destroyed by fire. An investigation by State Policeman Henechek revealed circumstances which he considered suspicious and Pelegore was arrested.

Bail in an arson case can be set only by the court and today at noon Judge Hildebrand had not yet heard the petition for bail. It is expected that the hearing will be held this afternoon. In the meantime Pelegore is in jail.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Jerome Factor, 19-year-old university student who was kidnaped nine days ago and held for $50,000 ransom, was released by his abductors early today, apparently unharmed.

Unshaven and apparently dazed after his period of captivity, the son of John "Jake the Barber" Factor, millionaire stock promoter, appeared at 2:30 a. m. at the apartment of his mother, Mrs. Leonard Marcus.

The Playmakers Thrill Audience

Initial Performance Of New Organization Reveals
Dramatic Ability

PRESENT PLAY AT SENIOR HIGH

Five hundred New Castle play lovers who last night enjoyed three hilarious acts of comedy in the play "It Won't Be Long Now," would quickly attest that "The Playmakers," newest amateur play group to take form here, launched with impressiveness, a promising dramatic future.

Joint Benefit Show
The crowd of 500 saw the farce given at the Senior high school auditorium. It was a benefit production sponsored by The Phalanx, young men's service fraternity of the Y. M. C. A.

Before the audience appeared 14 players not altogether strangers to the high school stage, nor newcomers to any stage in fact. The Playmakers' talented cast, chosen and coached by Miss Clara M. Hartsuff, high school dramatic supervisor, numbered stars of past years' high school shows who of late have entered civic theatre guilds in different cities.

"Comedy Makes Hit"
"It Won't Be Long Now" would temporarily knock the depression woes of any audience, and it effectively did that last night. An uproar of laughter started over and over again as the farcical comedy lines were spoken by the characters whose rigid rehearsals had given them mastery sway over the parts they filled.

All in all, hardly a hitch was noted (Continued On Page Two)

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
WINSLOW, Ariz., April 21.—All I know is just what I read in the Albuquerque (N. M.) papers. They say we are off the gold. Well, I am flying over Arizona and New Mexico as I write this, and you could take a parachute and jump out any place.

The best way to tell when each one of us went off the gold is to figure back how many years it was since we had any. That's when we went off.

The last I remember getting my clutches on was in Johannesburg, South Africa. Some $5 English gold pieces that we carried in a belt around our waist. I used the last one to pay a third-class passage to Australia.

So I went off the gold in 1902. So, this move strikes me as no great novelty or calamity.

Yours,

Ruth Judd Is Sane, Asserts State Alienist

Says Insane Person Would Be Ashamed To Act As Condemned Woman
Is Acting

(International News Service)
FLORENCE, Ariz., April 21.—Winnie Ruth Judd, saved from hanging at dawn today by a timely reprieve, may know by tomorrow night whether the reprieve was in vain.

The sanity trial on which her fate depends was speeding to a close today before a jury of 12 men. The "trunk" slayer is now under sentence to die next Friday for the murder of Agnes Anne Lerol. The bodies of Mrs. Lerol and Hedvig Samuelson were cut up and shipped in trunks from Phoenix to Los Angeles.

Is Only Shamming
Four state alienists have pronounced her not only sane but asserted that she is shamming.

Under the law of Arizona if the defendant is able to comprehend the nature of the penalty to be imposed and the reason for it, she must be declared sane, unless she is in such condition as not to be able to direct a defense in her behalf.

Dr. Paul Bowers of Los Angeles was the most emphatic of the state witnesses in declaring Mrs. Judd sane.

Injunction Ends Town's Beer Ban

Grove City Council's Move Upset Temporarily By Court Ruling

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, April 21.—Beer was on sale about Grove City today, the day the borough's council of officials ordered it taboo, because Judge James A. McLaughry, sitting at Mercer, issued a temporary injunction which restrained Burgess W. Van Eman and the council from enforcing the beer-prohibiting ordinance adopted a week ago.

Three Grove City restaurateurs, P. L. Nemo, Christ Page and Eva Phillips, filed the injunction petition Thursday with Judge McLaughry, who set April 26 at 2 p. m. as the time a hearing shall be held to determine whether the order shall be made permanent.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs argued the ordinance was not legal and unfair. Equity proceedings have also been instituted.

City Solicitor Merle Klinesmith, of Grove City, is preparing the borough's case.

Under council's ordinance, the manufacture and sale of beer in the borough after midnight last night was unlawful.

Macon Soars Over Cleveland

ZEPPELIN DOCK,
AKRON, O., April 21.—Less than three weeks after its sister ship, The Akron, crashed into the turbulent Atlantic, the navy dirigible U. S. S. Macon took off from Akron Airport at 6 a. m., today on its initial test flight.

Exactly at sunrise the world's largest airship cast off its moorings and made a perfect take off with Commander Alger H. Dresel, of New York City, giving the command "Up Ship."

One hundred and five men in all were aboard the Macon as the ship left on its maiden flight.

A strong wind was blowing from the east. As soon as the great airship had been towed out 1,200 feet north of the north dock door by its 115 ton portable mooring mast, the ground crew of 258 men swung the tail westward to put the Gargantuan aircraft in line with the prevailing wind.

On Maiden Trip.
Rear Admiral George C. Day and the naval board of inspection and survey boarded the craft as four of the eight powerful Maybach motors started warming up.

Admiral Day joined Commander Dresel in the control car as the Macon was trimmed for her flight. Water ballast was dropped from the nose of the dirigible, the cone locking device holding her to the mooring mast was cast off and exactly at 6:18 a. m. came Dresel's command: "Up Ship."

At the command all eight 550-horsepower motors broke out with a roar and the Macon was off on her maiden trip. Just 18 months ago the first of the navy's $8,000,000 (Continued On Page Two)

Heavy Snow Storm 32 Years Ago Is Vividly Recalled

Thirty two years ago today there was eight inches of snow on the ground, according to the recollections of A. N. Bergland, a well known contractor. "It started to snow on April 20th" said Mr. Bergland "and continued during a greater part of the day. On the following day, April 21, the snow began to melt. It did so rapidly, and caused quite a flood." Mr. Bergland is able to remember the date because he came to New Castle on April 30th, 32 years ago and started to work on a house on North Jefferson street.

These are the days for the knights of the road, the lads with the rubber thumb, who pay no fare on the broad highway but who travel far on the bum. And these are the days for the tourist folk, who want to be up and away, for the concrete calls with its siren urge, it's sixty seven today. And in every town as they drive along the thumber is waiting there, the travelling lad with a yen to roam and never a worry and care. and planting of grass in the parkway, is taking on a beautiful appearance this spring. It will be one of the showplaces of the city in the future.

So far as taxi cabs are concerned, there just was no scarcity of them here last night. But 80, it so happens, couldn't have answered service calls had they wanted to. Those were the 80 a Michigan cab manufacturing firm is sending to New York to replace others worn from duty along Broadway's lanes. Since January there have been 1,000 of them—last night's 80 were the last—pass thru New Castle, enroute east. At a local garage the 30 drivers would stop, park their cabs for all night, rush to a hotel for a night's rest, refuel quickly in the morning and resume their trip. They came almost twice a week. PA News learned, leaving nearly $400 in cash here every time. Now PA News hears the same firm may start 1,800 more toward Philadelphia.

The crane was being used to juggle steel beams around in the new postoffice site this morning and had the usual large crowd of spectators. The work is moving along steadily. Now that the excavation is completed, the actual construction work is under way.

A cement mixer was grinding away this morning at the rear of the Long and Morehead building, North Mill and East North streets. The cellar floor of the building is being cemented. Other repairs are being made to parts recently damaged by fire.

Hard work on the part of the membership and cooperation from the people of the community have resulted in most of the Y. W. C. A. debts being paid. The emergency fund drive netted the organization enough money to pay nearly all debts up to the first of April.

JEROME FACTOR IS RELEASED BY KIDNAPING GANG

house that the youth was seized a week ago Wednesday.

The youth appeared exhausted and his mother hastily summoned a physician. A heavy growth of beard covered young Factor's face and his features bore the marks of adhesive tape with which his eyes had been bandaged during the whole period of his captivity.

"Jake" Factor, who is accused of swindling British investors of $7,000,000, completed negotiations last night for his son's release, but refused to say whether all or part of the $50,000 ransom demanded had been paid. Police, however, were convinced that a portion of the ransom demand had been met.

Together with several Capone gangsters whom he had enlisted to act as his emissaries Factor left his hotel headquarters last night in an automobile, apparently to make the final payment. The gangland "detectives" were led by Hunt, and Murray Humphreys, titular head of the Capone syndicate. Police said Factor had evidently received a secret communication from the kidnapers.

Warning Given
Young Factor rode to his mother's home in a taxicab. Reluctantly he divulged that his abductors had driven him to a location near the apartment house and put him out of their automobile with a warning not to remove the tape from his eyes until they had departed.

The youth telephoned his father's hotel suite and talked with William Bleet, Factor's business associate.

"You can expect your father as the house any minute now," Bleet said.

Captain Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's staff hurried to the Marcus home to question the youth.

Ten In Custody
Ten suspects were in custody when young Factor returned home. Six of these were believed by police to be members of a Southern Illinois kidnaping ring. Four of the prisoners were taken in custody by federal secret service agents yesterday when they raided a Chicago apartment.

Release of the young student followed a day of rapid-fire developments in which United States Secret Service men made a swift raid on a South Side apartment and seized four men for questioning. The raid was ordered on information which was kept a closely-guarded secret.

Suspects Grilled
The four prisoners, Michael McGovern, Thomas Osborn, John O'Neill and James Martin, were hurried to the juvenile bureau where they were questioned for several hours.

While Factor was negotiating for payment of the ransom detectives ceaselessly questioned the four prisoners and three other suspects arrested Tuesday on information furnished by six members of the Al Capone gang who were acting as paid emissaries of Factor. The three men are Archie Brown, Ted Patterson and Edward Strauss.

Threatened Vengeance
CHICAGO, April 21.—With his kidnaped son, Jerome, returned home safe, John "Jake" Barber, Factor, millionaire stock promoter, demanded vengeance today with the promise that he will "see this thing through to the finish."

Although vowing that he had not paid a cent of the $100,000 demanded by the kidnaping gang, Factor vehemently stated:

"I will bring my son's abductors to justice."

Return At 5 P. M.
Airport, Akron, O., April 21.—Commander Alger H. Dresel radioed the zeppelin dock from the Macon flying above Akron at 7:30 a. m.

The Isle of Man now has made known its desire to adopt a flag of its own.

EXPECT CONGRESS TO GIVE PRESIDENT INFLATION POWER

American currency, while stripping Wall Street and the federal reserve system of its long-used power to expand and deflate the currency.

2. Stabilize farm prices at a living level while barring extortionate values.

3. Force Europe to enter agreements for stabilization of foreign currencies.

4. Slash the cost of war debt payments by European debtors, if they agreed to further disarmament.

5. Effectively terminate the raids on American markets by foreign nations producing commodities under depreciated currencies.

6. Open to American commerce the world markets long closed by depreciated currencies abroad.

Could Issue Notes.
The bill actually would authorize the president to issue $3,000,000,000 in United States notes for the payment of maturing federal obligations or the purchase of United States obligations; reduce the gold content of the American dollar by "not to exceed 50 percent" and accept $100,000,000 in silver as payment on the war debts, at "not more than 50 cents an ounce."

Alternate Proposal.
An alternative proposal would give the president power to issue $3,000,000,000 in greenbacks for the same purpose. If the banks refused to carry out this function according to his wishes, then the treasury would do so, using the greenbacks to retire government bonds. When too much money was in circulation, the president merely would retire the greenbacks or issue new bonds to meet current obligations.

This power to expand or contract the currency in circulation would give the president a control over commodity prices. His economic advisers declared he virtually would be able to fix commodity prices at any level he desired and then to stabilize them at that level. If prices sky-rocketed, so the cost of living increased violently, he would have the power to order a deflation of the currency to restore a lower level.

Tremendous Weapon.
The bill would give Mr. Roosevelt a tremendous weapon to use in the forthcoming economic conferences. With Franklin MacDonell of Great Britain, landing in New York, for instance, the bill would enable Mr. Roosevelt to negotiate an Anglo-American agreement for stabilizing the exchange rate between the American dollar and British pound. It would apply as well to other currencies and to agreements for stabilizing the ratio between gold and silver throughout the world.

The weapon would be authority to accept silver payments on war debts, up to a total of $100,000,000 at "not to exceed 50 cents an ounce for silver," and to reduce the gold content of the American dollar.

The British government, for instance, would be far more able to meet its war debt payments, if part were paid in silver and the rest in a depreciated gold dollar. The debt would be slashed to the extent that silver were accepted and the gold dollar reduced.

Jobs on city streets and county road projects assigned to 85 additional unemployed men Thursday and today, the state's cooperative employment office in the Y. M. C. A. announced.

Of the 85, 30 began work today and 55 will report for duty next Monday.

Annual Meeting
The annual meeting of the Knights of Columbus Building Association of New Castle, Penna., will be held at 1:30 p. m. April 23 for the purpose of electing nine directors and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented at said meeting.

Out Over Lake.

Cleveland, April 21.—After a voyage from her home dock at Akron, the U. S. S. Macon reached Cleveland at 7:40 a. m. today. The ship circled the outskirts of the city and then headed north toward the lake.

Aboard The Blimp "Defender" With The U. S. S. Dirigible Macon, Akron, O., April 21.—The Navy's new super-airship, The U. S. S. Macon was being put through her paces over the blue, sun-glistened waters of Lake Erie this afternoon by Commander Alger H. Dresel and his crew of "Air Gobs."

After accompanying the giant airship on the start of its first maiden flight, the blimp "Defender," carrying the International News Service staff correspondent and other observers, headed back to its home port this afternoon, leaving the Macon riding the air waves smoothly over the lake off the Cleveland shoreline.

Enroute back to the Zeppelin dock shortly after noon radio men aboard the "Defender" intercepted a message from Commander Dresel, stating that "all's well," and that he expected to return to port for landing about six o'clock this evening. The ground crew has been ordered on duty at five o'clock, but the Macon's skipper indicated in his message that he would not bring his ship into harbor until sun-set or shortly afterward.

NEW STATE BEER
BILL PENDING IN STATE LEGISLATURE

$500, those in third and fourth class counties $400, and $300 for plants in all other counties. Retail license would be graduated from $75 to $300, in proportion to the population of a municipality.

All license fees would be returned to the municipalities in which establishments are located. The commonwealth would derive revenue from $10 licenses for each railroad car and $25 license for each seanship. In addition to procuring a license, manufacturers must post a $1,000 bond.

Saloons Outlawed
The old-time saloon and bars are outlawed in the document, which says that 32 beer cannot be sold except in rooms or places visible to the public at all times. Sales are prohibited to minors, mentally defective and to all on Sundays.

The bill embodies a local option feature for prohibiting the sale of beer in any municipality. Once every four years voters may determine by referendum whether or not sale of the beverage will be outlawed in their respective community.

The state and county treasurers would be compelled to issue licenses to any reputable applicants who could appeal to county courts in the event of rejection.

HARRISBURG, April 21.—The assembly's newest beer control bill, sponsored by Senator John J. McClure, passed second reading in the Senate today. Immediately afterwards the members present met as a committee of the whole to consider amendments to the measure.

THE SOVIET AND THE BRITISH ENGINEERS

THE case of the British engineers in Russia, arrested on charges of bribery, sabotage and espionage, calls for consideration from more than one point of view. In the first place, the methods of the OGPU, or secret police, are notoriously unscrupulous. It was therefore inevitable that great public indignation should be aroused in Great Britain, and that the government should assume that the accusations were false. The fact that one of the men, under great pressure, as he now says, confessed his guilt was exceedingly embarrassing, since it seemed to involve the rest in conduct it was impossible to defend. In the second place, conviction by a Soviet court carries less weight by reason of the brutal attitude of the prosecution. In the third place, the light sentences imposed upon two of the prisoners—he who had pleaded guilty is sent to prison only for two years—implies either fear of international complications or doubt as to the validity of the charges. Of the remaining four, one was acquitted and three ordered deported.

There remains the question of the probability of the accusations. The statement of Mr. Monkhouse, who is the Metropolitan-Vickers director in Russia, to the effect that a sum nearly equal to $8,000,000 is still owed to his company by the Soviet, in itself, as he points out, suggests that they have an insubstantial basis. If the plants installed were unsatisfactory, the company would have difficulty in collecting their money; and why should he or any of the engineers deliberately put in jeopardy an investment of this importance? It should further be borne in mind that the Soviet has repeatedly tried to blame foreign engineers for the incapacity of native workmen points out the Philadelphia Inquirer. There is no substantiated testimony against any of the accused, save the alleged confession of one and the verbal statements of Russians whom the prosecution had already discredited.

In the circumstances it is not surprising that the British government should persist in its refusal to accept the charges as valid and should undertake to retaliate by putting an embargo on some eighty per cent of Russian imports. A proclamation to this effect was signed by the King and issued by the Privy Council. This will quite dispose of any trade treaty between Great Britain and Russia, if it does not lead to the sundering of diplomatic relations.

The whole incident is a hard nut to crack for Americans who wish our own government to recognize a regime that disregards the ordinary amenities of civilization.

NO YOUTH PROBLEM

Not long ago when a British headmaster said the modern schoolboy is "cowardly, untruthful, vain and dishonest," Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, refuted that unfair indictment. Now Dr. John Grier Hibben, former president of Princeton University, asserts that the product of the modern college is superior to the fathers of that product.

It is not unusual to find coming to the defense of youth the men and women who best know and understand youth, while the critics of youth are seldom in a position to know their subject. It is easy for the superficial observer to jump at conclusions and indulge in false generalities.

Modern youth frequently finds delight in shocking the elders. It likes to be irresponsible, irritating and confusing. That is the traditional attitude of youth. Still, somehow, it manages to keep those who know it best among its most loyal defenders.

Youth never changes, basically. Neither does maturity. And there lies the rub. Older generations need only to realize that modern youth is merely doing what they did in their youth only in a different way to be tolerant, if not laudatory. But somehow old age must expect all posterity to be patterned after its example, though in its more reminiscent and candid moods it finds little in that example to brag about.

ON THE ROAD TO BETTER THINGS

Encouraging is the declaration of Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, made at the stockholders' meeting, that he feels "we are on the road to better things."

The prediction, if we may call it that, should be received with gratification in this city, which is vitally interested in better things for the steel corporation.

All indications in practically every industry are that we are starting to travel on that "road to better things." We are climbing a hill, and the going must be somewhat slow, but when the top is reached speed can be made on the level stretch. The main thing is to get on the right highway. We have done that, and now all that remains is to keep going in the right direction.

REMODELING BROADWAY

Unlike the attempts at moral remodeling periodically undertaken, New York city's Broadway is now scheduled for an actual, physical spring housecleaning, according to the Broadway Association.

The Great White Way, at least that part near Times Square, has been indicted by old-timers for the manner in which most of its former brilliancy has faded. Probably one of the best known streets in the world, Broadway has apparently degenerated during the past few years as the depression made its mark on all municipalities of the country.

But the Broadway Association, organized to maintain the traits for which the street has become famous, is now imbued with civic pride and a certain amount of foresight. The Great White Way must be maintained as a show place of the metropolises.

When newspaper advertising registers a gain, so will business.

You don't have to collect bills; they just accumulate.

What this country needs is less time to drink beer.

Prosperity straw: More than 40,000 automobiles were manufactured in the United States last week.

A new steam-powered airplane will fly 100 miles at a fuel cost of 40 cents. If it crashes 50 miles from its goal, that will be an additional fuel economy of 20 cents.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

A TEST OF OLD AGE

Guess I'm older than I thought I was. I've been watching the youngsters play marbles and I don't approve.

They don't play the game as we did.

The rules are different, the words they use are all different; it's not the same game at all.

The kids I saw playing marbles had dug three holes about 10 feet apart in a straight line. First you shoot for the first hole from a line. If you get into that hole you shoot for the second, then you come back to the first and to the line.

Then you start out for "pug," which is the third hole. If you "kill" somebody you get the next hole without shooting for it.

After you've gotten to "pug," if anybody "kills" you, you must start all over again.

If you "kill" an opponent and knock him into a hole, and put your hand over the hole and yell "pug" before anybody else does, that's the end of the game and you win.

If you "kill" somebody he can yell, "Ten shots to start over again" and he gets 10 shots before you do in the next game.

A youngster who sutters doesn't have a chance in this modern game.

They don't cry "rounders," they don't cry "knuckle down," they don't "lag for law" to see who was first. I didn't hear any tough youngster, who was losing, shout "grab stakes and run," and break up the game.

I tried to play and a little nine-year-old girl, who was always thinking up new rules, beat me so easily it was mortifying and in self-protection I had to insist it wasn't much of a game.

When I played that game it was tough. You put your marbles in the ring and fought for them with your favorite charmed agate, and sometimes, after it was all over, you had a whole shoebox full of trophies, but if you lost you didn't say a word. There was one boy in our block who'd never bought a marble in his life. We bought them for him, although it was considered sort of shameful to be caught buying marbles.

You see how old I am. I'm so old that I think the marble game we played when I was a boy was a better game than the one the boys and girls play today.

Where's my easy chair, where are my slippers, where's the strong cane to support this tottering and ancient old man?

I'm an old, old, old, old codger. Anybody can see that I am.

THE ENTHUSIAST

Don't expect anything of a logical nature from a friend who is likely to become over-enthusiastic and emotional.

Enthusiasm is necessary to the success of any plan but these excessively effusive individual, presage words and actions often not well founded.

For example: you present some plan to a friend who immediately becomes complimentary and speaks great success for it.

He has done this with surface thinking, or no thinking at all. Understanding does not enter, but he is impressed.

In such circumstances he gives encouragement that your proposal may not in reality warrant.

When you want advice go to the one who will hesitate to offer an opinion and who is known to have what is called a level head.

"Level" heads can make mistakes, but they usually show up weak spots.

And your plan may need to have the weak spots brought to light. When he gives you the objections that others will see, also, he is doing you a service, not echoing your ideas. He is not too lazy to think nor does he fear offending you.

When you want advice, don't seek it of the over-emotional person.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE MOTHER
We come in pain to her who loves us best;

We cause her pain and anguish many a day.
Yet, by the tiny words we early learn to say,

The mother thinks herself supremely blest;
Toils dreary hours to keep us neatly dressed

And through the window watches us at play;
Glad hers the task to put our toys away

And see us safely tucked in bed to rest.

Despite our frailties and the wrong we do
Long hours of illness and the care we bring,

Her love remains devoted, constant, true.
Always some joy is she remembering.

Would you be brave in trouble?
Then recall
How much our mothers suffer for us all.

Mr. Daniels who has been appointed ambassador to Mexico, owns a newspaper at Raleigh, N. C., and it isn't as good a newspaper as The News. He was secretary of the navy under President Wilson and Mr. Roosevelt, now president, was assistant secretary of the navy. It took a few hundred soldiers to guard Mr. Daniels when he went to Mexico. They wanted to plink him for some of the things they didn't like that he did when he was secretary of the navy. Those men who were on the committee from New Castle that held a conference with Daniels and Roosevelt on the question of building an ammunition plant in New Castle will get a kick out of what has happened to Roosevelt and Daniels since that conference. The Hints and Dints man was there.

There is one thing we never could understand and that is why some people will waste their time gathering dandelion greens in the spring. We never even heard of any person protesting about any person doing it tramping over their lawn. Everybody seems to be sorry for the dandelion gardeners.

The fire department was called to North Mercer street a few days ago and we got a look at the disreputable looking automobile the fire chief has to ride around in. His job is a dangerous one and he ought to have one of the best automobiles made. That old car he rides in at high speed is liable to cost the city plenty some day. Better get rid of a few police cars and get the chief one that does not only imperil his life but everybody else who might be on the streets when he has to go to a fire.

ON THE EAST SIDE
639 E. Washington St.
New Castle, Pa.
April 18, 1933.

Dear Lion Rentz:
Last week on the East Side a man was sent out to get a doctor in a hurry for a maternity case. Whilst out on his errand he met a friend and they argued about "beer." After a while he got home and was asked "Where's the doctor?" He said that a good many ages ago when the Tennessee River began to flow from the mountains west to the Mississippi River at Cairo it took a little dip into the top corner of Alabama & there for 30 (thirty) miles it runs over so rapid which has been named Muscle Shoals. Now these M Shoals has been in the same place millions of years time without end & nobody wanted the same for any uses whatsoever.

Except just before the German war the Alabama Power Trust seen where they could use the same for making some power & they spent about a million dollars buying up the land etcetera & getting ready to build their selves a dam in that place.

So the big war come on & the govt says this is a good place for us to make some dynamite for our big cannons etcetera let them have the place & the Alabama Power Trust said all right take the place but leave us have some payments from you as regards our 1/2 millions dollars which has been already been used up by us in preparing the place to be useful. So the govt says your trolley is twisted where you get that stuff as regards paying you anything don't you know there is a war being put on? So the Alabama Power Trust says all right we will give 3 (three) cheers & kiss our 1/2 millions dollars good by & give you the place for 1 (one) dollars cash. They done so & the govt give them a check for 1 (one) dollars. Then the M Shoals was took over by the govt.

Except the Power Trust got all swelled up about being such decent & honorable citizens & wanted some advertisement as regards giving this private property away for 1 (one) dollars & so they had made right away some pictures of this 1 (one) dollar check & had them fined 5 (five) hundred dollars on account of reprinting a govt check which same is not supposed to be done in polite society.

The moral of this parable is plain as the nose on your face as follows & to wit. Don't have any private opinions of your own when you are key with your uncle which governs you. Anyhow if you want to read any more jokes like the above it can be done in Public Utility Fortnightly April 13.

Well now we have the govt with this big dam for making water power which same was to be used to make nitrate for powder to blow the Germans in to some sensible frame of mind & before the nitrate factory could be got to run the Germans heard of the scheme & got scared & stopped the war.

Well there you are. A big plant on our hands which has cost a bushel basket of millions of dollars & no war to use it on. So some sons of wild beasts of burden right away jumped up and says let us use the place to make cheap fertilizer for the poor & down trodden farmer. Except right away some other men which was working in the same house of congress where the said sons of wild beasts of burden was making laws to govern the country rose up & exclaimed what is the sense of wasting more of the tax payers money on ton of the bushel basket of millions of dollars which has already been poured into this thing which same is now useless.

They says don't you know that there is now being made more nitrate than can be used by the farmers on account private factories speeded up production & made more modern methods for the same. They said don't you know that on account of private engineering new discoveries has been found so that all the machinery at this place for making nitrates is now obsolete useless & unnecessary so if you go to making nitrates there which is not now needed & will not be needed even if we have another German war you will have to tear down this whole plant & put in modern mch.

But the said sons of wild beasts of burden recited as follows & to wit. They says what do we care if factories which are now running can make all the nitrates which will ever be needed. Let them shut down. We will make the same by the government. & what do we care if it takes more tax money. We got the last tax money easy enough. (Continued On Page Five)

Van Dyke As Beloved Figure Put Among America's Great

Preacher, Poet, Statesman And Fisherman, Dead At Age Of 81, Lauded Because Of Influence He Exerted Throughout Life

Enthusiastic tributes to a great character are given by Americans as Dr. Henry Van Dyke dies in Princeton at the age of 81. His unusual qualities are declared to have influenced multitudes, while his services as a diplomat in war time are recognized. His versatility is a subject of general comment, and his place as a fisherman-author emphasized with words of admiration.

"One of the great figures of America," is the appraisal of the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, with the statement that "some of his poems are among the most beautiful in the language," and the comment on his public services: "He will be remembered in America, and throughout the world as an untiring, dashing, knightly soldier of peace, battling for a warless world, not only in the imaginations of people but in the cabinets and chancelleries of nations." The YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR feels that "the country needs more men like him," while the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS says that "his literary works rank very high and his personal qualities were such that he was held in affectionate regard."

The NEWARK EVENING NEWS refers to him as "a cultured gentleman of great public and private charm," and the SALT LAKE DESERER NEWS avers that "the country loses a gentle and beloved man." The MIAMI DAILY NEWS declares: "One of America's great inspirational voices is stilled with the death of Dr. Van Dyke. In verse or prose, from the pulpit or the professor's chair, as a lecturer or diplomat, he expressed unflinching high ideals that kept alive the spiritual flame. His little book, 'The Other Wise Man,' will remain an American classic, one of the best known Christmas stories in the English language. His service in the difficult post as minister to the Netherlands and Luxembourg while the World War raged added these neutral lands will be long remembered."

Recalling his service in the Netherlands, the BALTIMORE SUN records that "he was at various times instrumental in efforts to establish some sort of contact between the European belligerents, and he was one of the earliest advocates of a League of Nations." The NASHVILLE BANNER states that "his versatile talents made him one of the notable figures of his time in the world of letters," to which the HARTFORD TIMES adds that he was "a masterful leader." The ATLANTA JOURNAL pays the tribute: "His influence transcended his art. He wrote pleasingly and sincerely, but there was more in his spirit than he got into his books. There was a charity, more eloquent than tongues of angels, which aureoled his words and lifted his preaching above the commonplace, and impressed all who knew him with the power of his gentleness. It was the charity that not only sees into life but is ready to bear all things and brave all things for truth and tolerance."

"He passed through the years, passing from one eminence to another, without dignity and honor," says the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, offering the estimate of his achievements: "Probably Van Dyke, the Presbyterian pulpit orator, the Princeton professor of literature, the Wilsonian Minister to The Netherlands, will be forgotten; but Van Dyke the poet and the essayist will remain, and from time to time especially when they are troubled, readers will seek him out with love and gratitude."

"He was reminiscent," according to the ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS, "of the old New England poets, of Longfellow and Oliver Wendell Holmes," while the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL recalls that he "had the faculty of taking the reader along as a friend and companion on his many journeys." That paper adds: "His ardor as fisherman did not interfere with the sterner duties of life. Thousands of the disciples of Izaak Walton will grieve to hear that he has gone and will pause to wish him good fishing in the Eden of the hereafter."

"Surely Peter was at the gate to meet this other famous fisher of men and catcher of fish," thinks the NEW YORK SUN, with the feeling that "wherever gentleness and the love of the beautiful have their due credit his passing will be mourned." Visioning a similar scene, the SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN comments: "We may be sure that when Dr. Van Dyke died at the gate that other Fisherman, St. Peter there came true, as usual, his own words, 'Two honest and good-natured anglers have never met each other by the way without crying out, 'What luck?'"

A further thought as to the future fame of Van Dyke is voiced by the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS: "He was another Izaak Walton; if fickle fame shall do him full justice, he will have his niche beside the angler of Stafford. He is more the master of prose, more the poet, more the artist; he shows a more vivid sense of what is going on about him as he angles for trout, and a keener eye for detail. Though clergyman by profession, he is less a moralist and more a humanist than Walton. And out of the quiet woods, the smooth-flowing river and the blue sky above, Henry Van Dyke has evolved a philosophy as serene: 'The best hope we can have is that God smiles at us.' We do at our small children."

"I just got a $3 bill."
"Nonsense, there are no $3 bills."
"Tell that to my grocer: he sent it to me."

Jury Ready To Deliberate On Fate For Neff

Youngstown Trial Brought To Close With Charging Of Jury By Judge

STATE ASKS FOR GUILTY VERDICT

Jurors Can Arrive At Five Possible Verdicts; Bullet Killed Wife

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 21.—With five possible verdicts to return and possibly disagreement, a jury of six men and six women was to begin deliberation of the fate of Cyrus H. Neff, charged with murdering his wife, Mary, here today.

Four of the verdicts would carry a jail or death sentence. The fifth would acquit.

Judge George H. Gessner, who has presided at the trial sessions since they began two weeks ago, is to charge the jury when court reconvenes today. The jury will then retire and begin weighing the testimony on which the fate of Neff hinges.

Conviction Demanded. Conviction of Neff of murder in the first degree was demanded by Special Prosecutor Andrew M. Henderson as he presented his closing arguments. He denounced Neff as "cool and calculating" and that "his appearance on the stand showed him to be a determined individual."

Neff and his daughters who were in the courtroom as the arguments were presented broke down and sobbed when Harold H. Hull, a defense attorney, began his pleas before the jury with the statement that there was no malice in the death. Hull contended that Neff accidentally discharged the weapon and that he is not guilty of any crime and should be discharged.

No Middle Ground. Chief Defense Counsel Clyde Osborne attacked the state for presenting "filthy testimony". Osborne told the jury that the Canfield lumber merchant is guilty either in the first degree or innocent.

"There is no middle ground," he said.

The jury verdicts that may be returned are:

Guilty of murder in the first degree without mercy, carrying with it a mandatory sentence of death in the electric chair or life imprisonment without hope of pardon or parole.

Guilty of murder in the second degree also is a life sentence but the prisoner may be paroled at the discretion of the board of paroles after a portion of the term is served.

Guilty of murder in the third degree or manslaughter includes a sentence of from one to 20 years.

The fifth verdict that may be returned is an acquittal.

Disagreement would result in a second trial for the defendant.

Turner Assails Pinchot Letters

Representative Says Governor Misrepresents Facts In His Utterances

In retaliation against Governor Pinchot's weekly letter to the people of Pennsylvania which appears in newspapers over the state, Representative Elwood J. Turner of Delaware is issuing a series of letters in which he is controverting many of the governor's statements and presenting the side of the legislature. In his first letter Mr. Turner hopes that the governor will carry out his threat to tour the state and says if he does, that others will follow him over the same route. He charges the governor with exaggeration and misrepresentation of facts.

Turner's second letter he blames much of the opposition to House Bill 22, the so-called amended Administrative Code upon department heads and salaried employees of the state. This bill passed the house he closes by reminding the people of the state that while they have taken a cut in their wages, but that the bureaucracy of state departments insists this shall not be done to state employees.

STRATEGY TO KEEP WHITE HOUSE PARLEYS SEPARATE

Determined to deal separately with England and France at the approaching White House conferences with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and former Premier Edouard Herriot, the Washington administration went to some lengths to have the British leader reach United States ahead of the French delegate. Herriot, however, will be in Washington two days before MacDonald departs, because the French moved up the sailing of his steamer. France is eager to present its case along with England's. This strategy may avail little. MacDonald, being a premier, was invited to stay at the White House. But Herriot, being a former premier, must stay at the French embassy. Hence there appears little likelihood of both bombarding President Roosevelt at the same time, and presenting the united front they have presented in conferences in the past.

Great Organ For College Chapel

One Of Largest In World Is Part Of Equipment Of $1,600,000 Building

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—One of the most completely equipped organs in the world, with unusual sound transmission arrangements, has been installed in the new Girard college chapel, erected at a cost of $1,600,000.

The organ is not one, but two, a great and an echo. The great organ has four manuals, 102 stops and 6587 pipes. The size of the building necessitated the installation of microphones, amplifiers and horns, some of the latter being concealed in two pylons flanking the rostrum. Others horns are located in the ceiling of the auditorium.

The chapel, dedicated on March 30, is wedge-shaped and is 200 feet long, 140 feet wide in its greatest dimensions and 106 feet high. The main auditorium, including the gallery, is 176 feet long, 69 feet wide and 72 feet high. The seating capacity is 2400.

Symbolism and Biblical subjects have been freely used in the decoration. The windows are of leaded glass, and of Greek design.

Germany has nearly a million war injured wholly or partly incapacitated.

Real Estate Needs To Be Relieved Of Excessive Taxes

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Un- less present methods of taxation are revised the educational system of Pennsylvania will break down, ac- cording to a prediction by Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, in an address here.

Dr. Rule based his opinion on the fact that real estate, comprising only 40 per cent of the national wealth, bears "88 per cent of the cost of government and 85 per cent of the cost of schools in Pennsylv- ania."

"The system needs a complete re- vision if the educational system is not to break down through inability of real estate to carry the load," He added:

"I have every confidence, how- ever, that Pennsylvania will take the steps necessary to see the schools through."

stood before a microphone and ad- dressed himself to the people of Am- erica.

"The last time I was with you," he said, "I came with a mission of peace, so that together we might create a public psychology which could pursue the fruitful avenues of peaceful cooperation as to our re- spective armaments. I am on the same mission still."

At War With Depression

"Since those days we have all encountered the storm and stress of bad times and many have suffered great losses. All over the world, we are at war with depression. Today I have come to America for the purpose of discussing with your pres- ident how we can conduct that war against unmerited poverty."

"I have come at the invitation of President Roosevelt to discuss par- ticularly with him the tasks that lie before the world economic confer- ence, and I come in the same spirit of neighborly co-operation as brought me here the last time."

"The well being of all who buy and sell and labor with body and mind, of all who seek to give the state service and rightly claim a reward for that service—those people are our concern.

"Their problems are our problems. It is believe me, a great privi- lege, a great pleasure to join with friends in this work."

Enroute To Washington

Harbor craft swarmed about the Berengaria as the huge liner en- tered the port of New York.

The prime minister and his party, which included his daughter, Ishbel, official hostess of 10 Downing street disembarked from the Berengaria at Quarantine and proceeded to Jersey City aboard the municipal tug Ma- com, where a special train awaited to take them to Washington.

MacDonald, seemingly in good health and with an apparently op- timistic outlook on the results of the forthcoming conference, addressed his message to the United States from the deck of the Berengaria.

There he was surrounded by members of his party and New York's official welcoming commit- tee.

Grover Whalen, former New York police commissioner who for many years officiated as New York's official greeter, was drafted into ser- vice to perform this task again to- day.

MacDonald Faces New Deal

Washington, April 21.—J. Ramsay MacDonald, the British prime min- ister, sets foot in Washington late today to be confronted with a "new deal" radically different from what he anticipated when he sailed from Southampton a week ago.

America's abandonment of the gold standard, leaving the dollar to find its own level among the churning currencies of the world, has had the effect of re-shuffling the diplo- matic cards to be played in the series of epochal conferences that be- gin at the White House tonight.

Opinion is virtually unanimous in diplomatic quarters that Mr. Mac- Donald has been deprived of his chief bargaining point by America's departure from the gold standard.

For almost two years, the British government has "managed" its de- preciated pound sterling to the de- timent of American commerce in world market, at the same time complaining that the dearness of the dollar made payment of the British debt to the United States impossible under existing circum- stances. This was the strength of the British hand—to force conces- sions from America in return for Britain's re-embarking the gold standard.

Britain Loses Advantage

Now the dollar is in the same boat with the pound. Both are de- preciated in the world's exchange. The British can no longer use their de- preciated pound sterling against the gold dollar to capture foreign mar- kets, and the force of their argu- ment that they cannot pay their debt in "dear dollars" is entirely lost. They can, if they want, pay off at a discount of some 12 per cent, and pay most of this year's install- ment in silver.

An excellent closeup of President Rafael L. Trujillo, of the Domini- can Republic (also known as Santo Domingo), who is hailed as the "Roosevelt of the Caribbean." He was formerly in the United States Marine Corps.

Just how Mr. MacDonald is to meet this new situation remains to be determined, but the betting in Washington is that the distin- guished visitor has had to regret- fully drop all his prepared speeches and arguments into the Atlantic within the past 48 hours, and chart a new course.

Amused at British Criticism

Washington has been highly amused at the chorus of indignant criticism in the British press over the American move—criticism of the United States for doing precise- ly what Britain herself did in Oc- tober of 1931.

The betting in diplomatic circles is, too, that Mr. MacDonald would give much to have a few hours quiet conference with Mr. Herriot, the French envoy, who is two days behind him on another vessel, before undertaking his conferences with President Roosevelt.

The "united front" of America's foreign debtors, of which so much was heard a few months ago, has been pretty effectively broken, first by Mr. Roosevelt's inviting them separately to come to Washington to discuss their problems, and, sec- ondly, by America's departure from gold.

And, oddly enough, the program drawn up for the visits of Mr. Mac- Donald and M. Herriot has been so arranged as to leave virtually no op- portunity for them to get together alone during the three days their visits run concurrently. Mr. Mac- Donald stays at the White House; M. Herriot at the French embassy. Almost all their waking hours are taken up with separate conferences, teas, dinners, garden parties, lunch- es, etcetera.

It's great to feel fit!

Everybody has days when every waking hour is packed with zest of living. Why not make every day like this?

A frequent drawback to fitness is constipation. It may dull your energy, steal your appetite, lower your vitality. Yet it is so easy to overcome.

Try eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAX. Science shows this delicious cereal supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote appetite, and tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAX is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than taking patent medicines—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipa- tion. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Professor Piccard Would Soar Again Into Stratosphere

Would Sponsor Flight Of Professor Piccard Over Chicago's World's Fair

Seek To Increase Knowledge Of Cosmic Rays; Flight May Be Made In July

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1933, by International News Service.)

AKRON, O., April 21.—A balloon ascension into the stratosphere to increase knowledge of cosmic rays is virtually assured visitors to Chicago's Century of Progress this summer. International News Service learned Thursday from a reliable source.

If plans of sponsors materialize, the projected ascent into the mysterious upper reaches of the air will probably be made early in July.

Has Been Up Twice.

Prof. Auguste Piccard, famed Belgian scientist now in this country on a lecture tour, may make the "world's fair" ascension, it was stated. Prof. Piccard has been two explorations of the stratosphere in Europe, reaching 33,153 feet on one ascent last year, and is said to favor the Chicago site for another attempt.

The projected ascension, it was learned, is being sponsored by the science department of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Irving E. Muskat, head of the chemistry department at the university and technical director of the Century of Progress exposition, spent the day here in conference with W. C. Young, chief of the aeronautics division of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., builders of many military and commercial balloons.

Present also were Lieut. Comdr. T. G. W. Settle, chief of the navy bureau of inspection at the Goodyear Zeppelin dock and supervisor of construction of the navy dirigibles Akron and Macon, and Ward T. Van Orman, noted balloonist.

Discuss Construction.

Dr. Muskat, International News Service learned, discussed construction of a free balloon with a gas capacity of 500,000 cubic feet. The balloon would be similar to that used by Prof. Piccard on his European ascents into the stratosphere. Although he declined to discuss his plans extensively, Dr. Muskat admitted he had sought cost and construction data for such a balloon. In addition, it was learned an order for an all-metal spherical gondola sturdy enough to withstand varying high altitude pressures, has been or will be placed soon with a Detroit concern.

Both commander Settle and Van Orman, expert balloonists, would not discuss possibility of their piloting the bag at the Century of Progress flight in event the Belgian scientist is unavailable.

Should the ascension eventuate, it was said, its sponsors hope to establish a new altitude record. The projected balloon, according to unofficial information, will be more than six times as large as those customarily used in international balloon races.

HUNDRED ATTEND SARACEN DINNER AT CHURCH HERE

"Charter Night" Program Is Observed With Noted
Speakers Present

Calling upon its members to "think clearly and comprehensively through modern problems and then to act intelligently on them" the Rev. John C. Nevin, pastor of the Fifth United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, a recent Westminster college graduate, addressed New Castle's Saracens at their Charter night dinner in the First Presbyterian church last night.

Rev. Nevin spoke after Cameron Ralston, Chicago journalist and organizer of the chapter, had formally presented their charter to them. With nearly 100 young persons from all church denominations in attendance, and with out of town groups present, the program provided one of the most enthusiastic affairs the local order has sponsored here.

The Saracens, whose official name last night changed to the "Keystone Patriots" were organized when Ralston's party of speakers visited New Castle on an anti-crime crusading tour several months ago. The Keystone Patriots comprises the youth branch of the movement.

Patterson Leads Program
Presiding as toastmaster last night was Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, head of the New Castle district of the Sunday School Council. The Rev. R. R. McGeorge, Second U. P. pastor, pronounced grace.

After briefly sketching the purpose of the meeting, Toastmaster Patterson presented Mr. Ralston, who explained the formation of a new organization of which the Saracens are a part. Its central headquarters will be in Pittsburgh, he said.

The charter presentation was the highlight feature of Mr. Ralston's part in the service.

Rev. Nevin's message on "Honest Thinking" carrying a stirring challenge to the group not to relax in its fight against alcohol, crime, and political corruption followed Ralston's talk.

The dinner group also heard President Dobson of the Grove City group of the order. Homer Welch, also of that city, led the pep singing with Miss Mary McGeehan as accompanist.

Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoning Presbyterian church pronounced the benediction.

April 24 has been announced as the date of the next meeting of the group, which will take place at the Second U. P. church, County Line street.

Reserve Officers Oppose Reduction Of Regular Army

Meeting of Shenango Valley Chapter, Reserve Officers Association, held Thursday evening at The Castleton, was a very successful affair and the program of the conference conducted by Major Edward W. Turner, C. A. C. (Dol) of the 99th Division Headquarters, Pittsburgh, proved most interesting.

Dinner was enjoyed by such members as could be present at 6:30 o'clock. The dinner was followed by a business session of the chapter, over which Colonel D. H. McQuiston, the president of the chapter, presided.

The question of sending delegates to the state convention of the Reserve Officers Association to be held in Allentown, Pa., on May 12-13 was brought up by Major W. Fulton Jackson, member of the chapter and State President. After some discussion, it was decided to leave the matter of appointment of delegates to the discretion of the president.

The chapter also unanimously approved a resolution instructing the delegates to the state convention to urge upon the state convention the necessity of opposing the proposed reduction in the regular army personnel, the curtailment of the activities of the National Guard, the C. M. T. C. and the R. O. T. C. and taking it up with the state and district legislators in an effort to prevent the entire disintegration of the national defenses of the country.

Colonel McQuiston, the president, announced that a series of conferences for the district was under way and that these conferences were taking up the matter of marksmanship and that eventually they would lead practice shooting at a range with pistols, rifles and automatic rifles. The next of these conferences will be held on Wednesday, April 26, at the Army.

Captain Brettell called attention to the pistol teams competition to be held at the state convention and suggested that the local team get busy.

The conference followed and was conducted by Major Edward W. Turner of Pittsburgh. His subject was "The Organization of the Coast Artillery Corps". In his discourse on the subject, he brought out all the details of the organization and also of its equipment and held the attention of the entire group of officers for more than an hour. A general discussion followed the address.

The officers and others participating in the conference were: Captain R. L. Montag, 395th Infantry, Butler, Pa.; Captain J. R. Sharp, 393rd Infantry, Butler, Pa.; Second Lieutenant Donald Dennis, 575th Field Artillery; Major W. Fulton Jackson, 27th General Hospital; Colonel D. H. McQuiston, 395th Infantry; Major Edward W. Turner, C. A. C. (Dol); Major C. E. Imbrie, Medical Reserve; Captain John B. Brettell, 308th Cavalry; First Lieutenant P. G. Dingley, Cavalry Reserve; First Lieutenant George F. Mitchell, 103rd Cavalry.

Eckles, 324th Engineers; Second Lieutenant H. W. Madducks, 395th Infantry; Second Lieutenant Frederic M. Smith, 22nd Engineers; Second Lieutenant Theodore Street, Chemical Warfare Reserve; First Lieutenant M. R. Bassett; G. W. Thomas.

YES—THIS WAS STYLISH WAY BACK IN 1903!

Can you imagine mother in these clothes? But that's the way she actually looked, 'way back in 1903—and she was dressed in the height of fashion. Lots of fun going through family albums, looking over the pictures of a generation ago—don't we laugh—and wonder how on earth they could have thought such styles attractive—?

BUT... HOW ABOUT YOUR HOME?

Is it, too, clothed in the fashion of a generation that has little left for us but laughter? Has it progressed with rapidly changing styles in clothing and furniture? Is it possible that you are so used to it that you can't see it through the eyes of the present? Look over your own home—if it has any rooms in it such as the picture here, NOW IS THE TIME TO BRING YOUR HOME UP-TO-DATE.

Hearings Are Held In Divorce Cases

Patrimonial Infidelities Are Aired Before Judge Hildebrand And Chambers

Divorce hearings were held by Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers at court this morning. There were twenty-one cases scheduled to be heard, but three of them were postponed.

Charges involved in the cases included desertion, cruelty and indignities. The testimony was pretty much the same. In the desertion cases libellants told when they were married and how long they had lived together. In the cruelty cases the acts alleged were mostly confined to harsh words.

Cases heard before Judge Hildebrand were as follows: John D. Kirkwood against Rose M. Kirkwood, desertion; Gladys Palmer against Kenneth Palmer. This case was out of the ordinary owing to its having been made on the grounds of respondent's having been convicted and sentenced on a felony in connection with the Volant bank robbery. Mary Poci against Evan Poci, cruel and barbarous treatment; Priscilla White against Norman White, desertion; Rebecca Swift against Joseph A. Swift, desertion; Kenneth C. Ball against Lillian I. Ball, indignities; Vera Teets against W. S. Teets, cruelty; Vera R. Lowell against Leon W.

College Chatter "Unmitigated Rot"

(International News Service) NEWARK, Del., April 21.—The English department of the University of Delaware has turned thumbs down on "chatter," the undergraduate newspaper gossip column.

With conventional fluency the undergraduate columnist discussed the social affairs of the campus, relating in detail how the love affairs of the student body were progressing.

The English department classified "chatter" as "unmitigated rot."

Say Family Life Is Coming Back

Young People Find Ways To Have Good Time Without Spending Much

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 21.—The American family, as an institution, is staging a "comeback."

So says Dr. David B. Rogers, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Pittsburgh, as a result of a study of answers to a questionnaire he submitted to 109 Pitt students.

More than 78 per cent of the students reported more activities in the home and by the family as a group since the depression started. Following was a typical answer—from a co-ed:

"We depend more on family facilities and the home for recreation. Instead of buying cakes and candies for our parties, we bake them at home. Instead of going to a dance, we roll up the old parlor rug and turn on the radio. Boys who come around are more inclined to have 'house dates' and use our kitchen for lunch."

One thing, however, remains unchanged.

The men still refuse to allow the girls to share expenses on a date.

Former Secretary At 'Y' Convention

Fankhauser, were the representatives of the New Castle Association.

The convention has come to a close and Mrs. Fankhauser has returned to this city. Misses White and Wilson are remaining for the week-end at the former's home in Detroit, Michigan.

Unable To Grant Building Permit

Nathan Love of the Love Coal company today requested councilman permission to build a 10x12 wooden building as an ice storehouse at 728 South Mill street.

Steel Workers To Begin Job Monday

Post Office Site Hums As Activity Grows; Rush Foundation Walls

Old Sol's shining rays helped workmen on New Castle's new post office to accomplish more today than at any other time for a week or two. Erection Superintendent Frank Engbreton reported early this afternoon.

With steel shipments steadily streaming in from the Pittsburgh Bridge & Iron Works company, at Rochester, Pa., Engbreton, pleased with the progress, said:

"Concrete is being poured into the wall forms of the building's boiler room, behind the Clark property, and additional wall forms are being erected by carpenters along the Washington street front. The steel coming in will be set up just as rapidly as possible."

C. R. Smith, spokesman for the Diamond Steel Construction company, of Youngstown, which will erect the steel work, said a crew of structural iron workers would be on the job next Monday. Over a dozen men may be employed in that part of the work.

Building officials were hopeful the favorable construction weather will continue, for speedy completion of the foundation walls, they said, will enable other work to proceed unhampered.

Repairing Storm And Sanitary Sewers

Sewer department employees of the city today worked on two sewers which have broken down, according to Councilman Treser. One is a sanitary sewer in Cedar street and the other is a stone storm sewer in Dewey avenue. Employees of the city streets department also are building a stone culvert in Jackson avenue and other employees are scraping dirt streets on the east side.

And soon the forests will resound with the primitive cry: "Shoot, boy, you're fazed."

Appeal Argued In Nixon Theater Case

Question Of Sufficiency Of A Constable's Sale Notice Is Involved

Arguments were heard in the superior court at Pittsburgh yesterday on a Lawrence county case which involves the question of what constitutes a sufficient public notice of a constable's sale.

The appellants, Annie P. Murdock, Catherine C. Patterson, Minnie E. McCandless, W. E. Patterson and Rachel F. Patterson, ask that a judgment of $1,927.12 awarded to the American Seating Company be set aside by the high court.

In arguments counsel for the New Castle residents asserted that hand bills were posted on the front and rear doors of the Nixon theater in New Castle announcing a constable's sale of theater equipment seized under a landlord's warrant. Another hand bill was posted in the constable's office, it is said.

This, the appellants maintain, is insufficient notice of such a sale.

The American Seating Company sold 426 theater chairs to the Nixon theater and these chairs are alleged to have been converted by the landlords.

The verdict was contained in an opinion by Judge James A. Chambers.

TRANSPORTATION COSTS

New Castle, Pa.
April 18, 1933.
Mr. Fred L. Rentz
President New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:
Attached is copy of letter written to Senator Alonzo S. Batchelor and Representatives Wm. McElwaine and W. J. Eroe regarding cost of water transportation vs. Rail Transportation.

For the benefit of your readers and the taxpayers of this community I request that the information in this letter be given the publicity it deserves in The News.

Yours very truly,
J. H. McILVENNY,
Pres. New Castle Chapter
Railroad Employees' and
Taxpayers' Association

The letter is as follows:
New Castle, Pa.
April 18, 1933.

Hon. Alonzo S. Batchelor,
State Senator,
Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Sir:
We are advised that certain bills have been introduced in the present session of the Legislature, that have for their purpose the erection of dams and the dredging of the channels of the Beaver and Mahoning Rivers, that water transportation may be made available for the communities adjacent to these streams.

While we are aware that there is considerable sentiment, among the residents in the area affected, in favor of this expenditure of the taxpayers' money, we would be remiss in our obligation as citizens and taxpayers if we failed to call your attention to some very pertinent facts, that are seldom considered when proposals are made in return to the antediluvian means of water transportation.

A protest made by railroad men or management, we fully realize will be immediately followed by a cry that our protest is not sincere, but is inspired by selfish motives; and a refusal to fall in line with any progressive move to lower the cost of transportation. This we most emphatically deny, and hereby present, for your consideration, just a few undeniable facts as attested to and compiled by our Federal Government.

A short survey of the actual cost to the taxpayers of the so-called improvement of the Missouri River from Kansas City to the mouth of the river, for transportation by barges is illuminating. The first estimate of cost, for this so-called lowering of costs of transportation, after two years of survey and examination by a Government Engineer, was $3,500,000 for construction and $147,500 for annual maintenance. Four years later this was raised from $3,500,000 to $20,000,000 and maintenance costs from $147,500 to $500,000.

The continued annual reports disclose a regular revision of costs upward from year to year until it has now exceeded $62,000,000, with out 70 per cent of the construction completed, and an estimated maintenance cost for 1932 of $2,876,204, or a cost of $7,226, per mile of the 398 miles from Kansas City to the mouth. The estimated total cost for this project is set at $72,948,613, or $183,417 per mile for 398 miles during a period of falling prices for labor and material.

Is this cheaper transportation—let us see. Double-track main line railroad, without terminals or depots, can be built for $50,000 per mile.

Government reports of the construction costs and maintenance of this project on a 5 per cent basis (the money expended, discloses the fact that in 1931 a total of $1,377,860 tons were moved, or a cost of $4.46 a ton for every ton moved. This real cost of water transportation is overlooked by waterway enthusiasts who attempt to determine relative costs of rail and barge transportation by comparing rail and barge rates.

It is the practice of Government barge lines to charge 20 per cent less than railroad rates. The rate on a high grade commodity such as grain is $1.60 a ton Kansas City to St. Louis. If this same 1931 tonnage had been handled by rail at 20 per cent less than the $1.60 rate the entire tonnage could have been handled for $440,195, which is out a fraction of the $6,150,000 annual interest and maintenance—a most decided difference, and just a further display of the invisible tax burden.

We concede that water and truck transportation is cheaper for the favored few, than the cost by railroads, but is not reflected in the costs to the ultimate consumers.

We contend that if the taxpayers are presented with a clear and understandable picture or diagram of the actual cost of construction and maintenance of all State of Federal aided transportation agencies, they will be quick to realize the utter fallacy of this claim for cheaper transportation and take such steps as will effectively squelch the clamor for a further waste of the taxpayers' money in the interests of a favored few.

If you care to verify the statements contained in this letter, I refer you to House Document No. 1120 60th Congress, Session 2nd, P. 37, House Document No. 1287, 61st Congress, Session 3rd, or the Annual Reports of Chief of Engineers—1927—P. 1110, 1928—P. 1146 and 1931—P. 1244—1251.

We believe that this information is due you and that you will give it the consideration we feel it deserves.

Thanking you for many past courtesies, I beg to remain,
Very truly yours,
J. H. McILVENNY,
Pres. New Castle Chapter

Taxpayers' Association

RECOGNIZING RUSSIA?
New Castle, Pa.
April 20, 1933.

Editor the New Castle News,
Dear Sir:

I have been reading in your paper quite a lot lately that down in Washington the government is seriously considering the recognition of the Soviet government.

What is the United States coming to? Even in Harrisburg they think the Bible is not written right, and want it changed.

Do you want to recognize Russia, after reading the following article taken from The Sunday School Times of Philadelphia, Pa?

The article:—

And Now Iscariotism
"Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is he: hold him fast." These words of infamy in a covenant of betrayal were spoken by Judas Iscariot of the Lord Jesus Christ. The name of their speaker has been held, and rightly, in greater contempt and loathing by mankind than any other human name since the world began. But now men are speaking that name proudly to themselves. The Advent Witness, of England, calls attention to the movement as a new phase of Russia's Anti-God movement. Many millions are said to belong to this new line-up, which brazenly calls itself "Iscariotism."

"Behind it is zeal to demolish what, in their judgment, stands discredited, because false. The hollowness and hypocrisy of the nominal church in Russia is largely to blame for this. . . . But this is not all the cause. The natural enmity of the heart of man toward God has in these conditions found opportunity for unrestricted expression. Christ is virtually being crucified afresh. He is held responsible for all the evils done in his name. . . .

Thus along the line of carnal reasoning, Judas Iscariot did right in betraying him. But Russia is not isolated in this strange exonerating of Judas Iscariot. A recent book was published with the purpose of placing a halo around the head of him who has hitherto been regarded as the world's greatest sinner. Judas is justified and Jesus is condemned. . . . "Iscariotism" is a widespread tendency of the times.

Every one should read the article by Senator Reed on Page 7, Wednesday's News, of April 19, 1933, and back him to the utmost on this question.

Very respectfully,
T. B. BOYD,
R. D. No. 2, New Castle, Pa.

AN APPRECIATION
Linesville, Pa., April 19, 1933.

Mr. Fred Rentz, Editor,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Mr. Rentz:—

Kindly accept my personal thanks for so liberally contributing to the welfare and comfort of the men from Lawrence county by your generous supply of the New Castle News which served so well in supplying all the news and information so eagerly sought by men away from their homes and friends.

The papers were passed from tent to tent by the men, so that all Lawrence county men could have the opportunity of reading their favorite newspaper each evening and you may rest assured they were enjoyed beyond measure by the hundreds of men supplied by Lawrence county. The work of clearing has been completed and the camp has been closed, so that it will not be necessary to continue the expense of sending the papers to the camp, which I appreciate has been no small amount.

Again thanking you, I remain,
Very truly yours,
RALPH J. FERRIS,
General Superintendent.

Hoyland's Chart Shows Trend Of Expenditures In City And County

In graph form, Councilman A. A. Hoyland, who is City Superintendent of Finance, has prepared a statement showing the percentage of increase and decrease in the disbursements of tax moneys for the county, the city and the school district of New Castle.

Beginning with the year 1917 the graph shows the increases and decreases through the years until 1933 and all three of the subdivisions show a marked decrease for the past several years.

Some Explanations
The wide variance shown between the county and city figures are accounted for in part by the fact that some years ago the county took over all the poor work of the city, townships and boros. This expense was taken off the city's disbursements, and added to the county. In addition, some jobs in the Court House were once fee jobs and took care of their own finances. Today they are on a salary and the salaries are paid out of the county treasury. Likewise the fees go into the county treasury.

From 1917 to 1923 the county disbursement curve is sharply up ending with the disbursements of 1923 being 391 per cent of the 1917 costs. Beginning 1923 the county costs began a sharp decline their low being reached in 1925 when the percentage showed the disbursements to be 154 per cent of the 1917 costs. In that year another gradual decline started, and at the beginning of 1926 another sharp decline began which ended in 1927 when the county costs were 423 per cent above those of 1917. Then another decline stopping at 279 per cent in 1930, and again an incline to 244 per cent in 1931. From then until now there has been a decline which shows the disbursements of 1932 to be 200 per cent of what they were in 1917, and about even with the expenditures of 1919-20.

City Costs

City disbursements held even from 1917 to 1918 and then went up 20 per cent. Some fluctuation up and down occurred for the next year or two and at the beginning of 1924 a rise started which ended at the end of 1925 when the disbursements showed 145 per cent over 1917. The chart declines to 108 per cent in 1926 then an increase to 129 per cent in 1927 and a gradual decline from then until now. For 1932 the city disbursements were just 29 per cent above those of 1917, according to the chart.

School costs are shown to be about on a parity with the county costs taking the present day disbursements. Both show 200 per cent for 1932 over 1917. There is a gradual incline from 1917 to 1920 when the incline becomes sharp rising to 197 per cent at the beginning of 1922. A decline then ensues dropping to 146 per cent at the end of 1923, and then a climb to 321 per cent at the beginning of 1928. Then a decline to 283 per cent at the beginning of 1929 and an increase in that year to 344 per cent. The drop from the beginning of 1930 to the beginning of 1933 has been from 344 per cent to 200 per cent.

Library Requires Non-Resident Fee

Numerous inquiries are received by the New Castle free public library as to whether or not people who are not residents of the city may borrow books.

They can, the library answers, by paying a yearly fee of one dollar. Transients must make a deposit on each book they take out of the library. The deposit varies from one to two dollars a book.

Non-residents who own New Castle property and can produce their tax receipts, may borrow books the same as any resident. County people are ranked as non-residents, of course, since the city library is supported by city, not county, taxes.

Payment Of School Tuition Involved

School tuition is involved in the case of the Plainingrove school district against C. F. Gardner, which will be taken up for trial at court next week. Defendant lives in Scott township. His son, Edwin Gardner, had been attending Plainingrove high school and Scott township had paid the tuition for three years, previous to the building of the Harlanburg high school. It is claimed that after this school was built Gardner attended the Plainingrove high school for another year and that no agreement had been made by which Scott township was to pay the tuition after a high school building was erected in Scott township. The amount of the claim is $90.

Gold Embargo Will Hamper High Finance

Financial Experts Agree Embargo Will Upset Speculating

STEWART RELATES PROBABLE EFFECT

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, April 21.—If it is true that a few international financiers have been largely responsible for hard times in the United States, President Roosevelt's embargo on further gold exports gives brilliant promise of completely upsetting the game.

Fiscal experts, both at the treasury and on Capitol Hill, agree that it is a game impossible to be played without full speculative latitude and elimination of gold as the stakes takes all speculative possibilities out of it.

The issue is one which involves the valuing of the money of one country against another in effecting exchanges of goods. The commodities traded back and forth partly balance these debts, but naturally there are margins to be settled in cash. Formerly it was easy to hit upon a common denominator for dollars, pounds, franc, etc.

Violent fluctuations
More recently this has not been the case, due to departures from the gold standard, the debasing of coinages and large paper issues. As a result of such influences most money values fluctuated violently for a time.

Europe solved that problem by letting the different currencies fluctuate until they found a new level relatively each to each—a considerably lower level than previously.

The United States, however, stuck to the gold standard. Therefore, while fairly stable among themselves, European money values fluctuated in comparison with the dollar.

Speculators were afforded their opportunity thus. In point of fact, of course, the balance of payments due is heavily in America's favor because of the war debts, but this is not always the case in connection with current transactions. Indeed, either by chance, or perhaps as many folk contend owing to skillful manipulation, balances have been almost persistently in Europe's direction.

The United States has had no choice, but to meet them by shipping gold abroad, finding which its credit would have suffered.

What Could Happen
Manifestly if, after draining the United States of gold in this fashion, Europe likewise evaded war debt payment and returned to the gold standard leaving Uncle Sam with his treasury empty of the metal, his position would be deplorable.

Nevertheless, some economists believe there is an international group of money kings who thought such an outcome would be to their advantage.

By having the dollar relatively at a higher level than the currencies of the remainder of the world, the United States is handicapped in still another respect.

A farmer, for example in the Argentine can buy agricultural implements either in England or America. If the dollar is at high water mark at the Argentine Banco De La Nacion but the pound is at low water mark, he obviously can buy more reasonably in Argentine pesos by patronizing an English manufacturer. America's foreign trade unquestionably has suffered in this manner.

Credit Depreciates
With American gold exports suspended, Uncle Sam's credit does in a technical sense depreciate. There is no way by which the buyer of a dollar in London or Paris can get gold for it. He will therefore, not pay so much for it as a speculative proposition but it is just as useful to him if he desires to spend it for goods in America.

Keeping gold at home furthermore increases America's dependable supply of money and makes domestic prices higher, as already has been demonstrated.

Incidentally the embargo being a step which obviously deprives Europe of an advantage it has had over America, makes it likelier that the overseas representatives at the coming parleys with President Roosevelt will acquiesce in a mutually satisfactory world commercial compact.

FINGER IN FAUCET RELEASED BY SAWS

(International News Service)
DENVER, April 21.—Some water faucets are vicious, according to Walter Lockhart, handyman at a local hotel. Lockhart stuck his finger into a faucet to find out why water didn't come out. The faucet "bit" the finger and Lockhart couldn't withdraw it.

The harder he struggled, the tighter the faucet held. Someone called police. Two patrolmen got a hack saw and cut off the faucet. Then the took Lockhart to the boiler room at city hall, where the faucet was sawed into several pieces before Lockhart's throbbing finger could be released.

Administration Beer Bill Is Introduced

Would Provide For Tax Of $1.24 Per Barrel On All Malt Beverages In State

Rep. Witkin Denounces Governor Pinchot For Blocking Revenue From Brewers

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 21.—Pennsylvania's legislative battle over beer legislation started again from scratch Thursday when the house ways and means committee, two hours after a veto of the Sowers-Conner bill, reported to the floor the administration's bill taxing malt beverages at $1.24 a barrel.

The control measure, companion of the taxation bill, was not reported out.

House Adjourns.
Sharp debate on the floor was halted by a motion to adjourn. It was carried and the house disbanded until Monday night.

Addressing the house immediately before he reported the tax bill, Rep. Sowers, taking the floor, retorted that it was the first time he knew the Democrats of Pennsylvania had agreed on anything.

Amendments Ordered.
Following Witkin's castigation of the governor, Sowers presented to

Rep. Morton Witkin, chairman of the ways and means committee, delivered a scathing attack upon Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

The fiery Philadelphian was bitter in his denunciation and pointing in the direction of the executive offices, referred to the governor thus: "The great God who sits in that office is responsible to us."

Witkin charged that the governor had blocked the revenue from the brewers and that he, and not the legislature, is responsible.

He said: "When the governor says that members of this house are aligned with the brewery interests he knows he is speaking an untruth. He is as untruthful politically as any man who ever sat in that chair or on the floor of this house."

Upholds Pinchot.
Rep. Chester H. Rhodes, Monroe, took exception to Witkin's remarks and declared that the Democrats of the house two weeks ago had agreed to urge passage of the Sowers-Conner bill with only a revenue-raising provision in it. The control features to be worked out in another bill.

Rhodes declared that Philadelphia members refused to listen to the proposal and that now the house appears willing to return to a single revenue-raising bill. He held that the factional differences in the Republican party were responsible for the delay in agreement on beer measures.

Rep. Sowers, taking the floor, retorted that it was the first time he knew the Democrats of Pennsylvania had agreed on anything.

Amendments Ordered.
Following Witkin's castigation of the governor, Sowers presented to the speaker the amendments which he said the governor wanted inserted in the Sowers-Conner bill.

"I want these placed in the records so that the people of Pennsylvania may know who is telling the truth." The amendments were ordered inserted in the Journal.

Witkin himself was subjected to an attack by Rep. Benjamin Jones, Luzerne, who charged the ways and means chairman with holding up revenue-raising measures by refusing previously to report out the administration taxation bill.

Bombshell Dropped.
Rep. H. G. Andrews, Cambria, dropped a bombshell into the house when he charged he saw Republican leaders, including Witkin, emerge from a conference with the governor with an announcement by the latter that they were agreed on beer control. Witkin interrupted to deny that he had been present at the conference but the Cambria member stood upon his previous statement.

The motion of Rep. Lovett, Montour, to adjourn ended the battle.

WIFE MUST SHARE HUSBAND'S TROUBLE

(International News Service)
SEATTLE, Wash.—The old "saucer of the goose" adage was reversed here in superior court.

Clarence R. Green, a city railway employee, is paid in warrants, which are discounted 15 per cent. In decreeing Green could pay his estranged wife's alimony in the depreciated warrants the court held it was no more than fair his wife should bear her share of her husband's "frozen assets."

SCOUTS TO HOLD FIRST AID MEET AT GYM TONIGHT

Senior High To Be Scene Of County's Annual Troop
Competition

Hundreds of lives are saved each year by first aid methods put into practice by Boy Scouts the nation over, from automobile accidents to cases of monoxide poisoning and apparent drowning, the scouts learning this work as part of their regular weekly troop meeting programs. The value of such work in a community is hard to estimate. Two lives have been saved right in New Castle during the past two years by application of such methods.

Tonight at the Senior high school gymnasium, troops from the council are entering teams to compete in a First Aid meet; at which a corps of expert First Aid judges will present problems involving work learned by scouts, and through a carefully-worked out scoring system, will grade these teams according to their work. A committee was appointed some time ago to work up rules. A. S. Hainsworth of West Pittsburg being the chairman. Commissioner Ralph Davis was asked to secure a corps of judges, and he has announced his selections as follows: Harry Cullford, chief judge; Walter G. DeArment, chief clerk; Elmer Timstman, recorder; Dr. T. J. McFate, recorder; meet judges, G. R. Weber, John Hamilton, Frank Murphy, Al Hughes, W. H. Clappie, William Duncan, K. W. Reimold, George Pollock, L. W. Hill, R. G. McCoy, W. G. Boyd and William Snyder.

These officials are asked to be on hand at the Senior high school gymnasium (rear entrance) at seven o'clock to go over final details; any questions as to problems being worked out at that time. Problems and solutions have already been worked out.

The first aid teams will assemble at 7:30 o'clock, and the meet will start promptly at eight. The general public is invited, as this is a real chance to see what great work these young citizens-to-be are doing in preparing themselves for worthwhile service to our community.

McAdoo Would Issue Notes In Debt Refunding

California Senator Proposes Issuance Of $8,000,000, 000 To Senate

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 21.—Senator William Gibbs McAdoo (D) of California on Thursday afternoon introduced a bill in the senate proposing to authorize an $8,000,000 issue of United States notes (currency) to refund the government's floating debt during the next five years. The floating debt has been met from time to time by issues of short term securities. McAdoo proposed the government simply pay it off as each bond issue fell due by issuing currency, in the form of United States notes, which would be lawful tender in payment of all debts, except import duties and interest on the public debt. A fund would be created to retire the new issue at a rate of three per cent each year.

Would Set Up $20,000,000 For Relief Of Poor

Senate Passes Scott Bill To Appropriate Huge Sum From Proposed Bond Issue

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, April 21.—Unemployment relief legislation took a more definite form Thursday when the senate passed finally by a unanimous vote the Scott bill appropriating $20,000,000 of a $25,000,000 bond issue, to be placed before the voters in November, for relief of the poor. The bill was relayed to the house to join another Scott document appropriating $13,000,000 for relief during the next biennium. These bills, if passed, will give Pennsylvania a potential $66,000,000 to feed and clothe its destitute. The state's appropriation of $33,000,000 will be matched by a loan from the reconstruction finance corporation. All money will be turned over for distribution by the state emergency relief board.

Women Sponsor Boy's Education

Dollar Day Luncheon Also Marks Day Of Graduation For William Hammond

WILLIAM HAMMOND

The annual dollar day luncheon of the Women's Missionary society of the First Baptist church was held Thursday at 1 o'clock in the church dining room with eight tables arranged for the eight sections of the society, and places marked for over 150 women. "Red" Williams led the singing, with Mrs. W. H. Luikhart at the piano.

The day also marked the graduation of William Hammond from the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Ill. William has gone to the institute the past 30 months and his education in that school has been one of the projects of the society. The secretary, Mrs. W. C. McCalmont, read a letter from the young man, thanking the women for the interest they have manifested in him through his student period.

Rev. C. H. Heaton, pastor of the church, asked the invocation as the women sat down to a delicious menu, and concluding this, Mrs. N. L. Gardner, vice president, was in charge of the meeting.
A letter was read from Mrs. W. H. Williams, who was president of the society the past 12 years. She has been in Florida the past winter. Mrs. A. Sturdy reported on the reading contest and Mrs. David Nesbitt, Mrs. W. O. Williams and Mrs. B. French Johnson were named a committee to meet with the men's committee on the ingathering of old gold.

W. O. "Red" Williams sang two numbers, accompanied by Garth Edmondson, and the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. C. H. Heaton, wife of the pastor of the church, was introduced. Mrs. Heaton had as her subject the book of S. D. Gordon, "Quiet Talks With World Winners", which was given in a splendid manner. She suggested that every so often the women take stock of themselves and see just where they are heading in their endeavors.
After Mrs. Heaton's talk the leaders of the various sections gave their reports for the year and the "dollars" were turned over to the treasurer for the year's work.

TRI-STATE TYPOGRAPHICAL CONFERENCE OPENS TOMORROW

New Castle Gets Honor Of Tri-State

Conference Meets At Castle-ton Hotel; Third Time In This City

MAYOR MAYNE TO ADDRESS PRINTERS

Banquet At 7:30 Saturday; Visitors To Attend From Three States

New Castle Local No. 270, International Typographical Union have the honor of entertaining the Tri-State Typographical Conference here Saturday and Sunday.

There will be about 150 or more delegates and their friends here for the banquet, and dance to be held in The Castleton hotel Saturday evening at 7:30. The business session will also be held there, beginning at 9 a. m. Sunday morning.

This is the third time New Castle Local No. 270 has been honored with the conference that covers three states and is composed of Printer's unions in Maryland, Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The stage is all set and nothing has been left undone by the committee on arrangements to make the visit of the delegates as entertaining and instructive as possible.

The committee is composed of H. L. Gresham, Fred R. Finch, James Fleckenstein, Walter G. Marshall, Vance Burkholder, James Jackamo and H. E. Hickling.

Sunday morning the women will be entertained. Many points of interest will be visited by the group. The meeting of the conference will be the 36th of this organization.

The delegates and their friends will be welcomed to the city by Mayor Mayne at the banquet. The other speakers are J. R. Harris, president of the conference; President Howard of the International Typographical Union; Howard Gresham, president of No. 270, and Fred L. Rentz, of The News.

The Typographical union in the United States has 80,000 members and is considered one of the strongest yet most conservative labor organizations. From its ranks have risen several internationally known figures including Benjamin Franklin and former President Warren G. Harding. Ohio's immediate past governor, A. V. Donahay, also laid aside the printer's "stick" to rise to his state's most prominent office.

New Castle Union Is 43 Years Old

Organization Took Place In Corridor Of City Jail

"WALLY" MILLER IS INSTIGATOR

Seven Charter Members—Union Now Comprises 32 Local Men

Taking them as a class the printers are a law abiding group of citizens. Now and then one of them runs afoul of the law just as lawyers, preachers, bankers and politicians do, but their percentage of error is wonderfully small. Their acquaintance with jails is of the long distance variety.

There was a time when the printers of New Castle knew what the inside of a jail looked like for that was the birth place of Local 270, International Typographical Union, which is the New Castle branch. Many printers here in New Castle might deny it, but the facts, according to one of the charter members are that the local was organized October 31, 1890 in the corridor of the New Castle jail.

Safe From Interference

Don't ask why it was so. Nobody knows, but it might have been to be sure of no interference upon the part of the printing plant owners. The Typographical Union received no bouquets on Mother's Day from the plant owners in those days. Printers who affiliated with the union movement might have been endangered and so the boys gathered in a place where plant owners didn't go, or shouldn't have anyway. The urge to organize was furnished by an old time printer who is remembered here, W. P. Miller, familiarly known as "Wally." He believed in organization, talked it and finally convinced the following printers that the time had come to band together, Fred L. Rentz, B. F. Butler, Norris D. Pyle, John W. White, John F. Quinn, John A. Leathers. With Miller the boys met in the jail corridor on that October night in 1890 and there was born the local that now includes 32 printers of New Castle within its membership.

Wages were small in those days. An experienced printer could command $9 per week, and some of them got as much as $6 per week. It was every man for himself. No collective bargaining, no aid to distressed families, no death benefits.

History Rather Hazy

The history of that charter group is a bit hazy. Nobody is sure who was president although it is thought that B. F. Butler held that office. At that time he was the foreman of The News composing room. It is the opinion of Fred L. Rentz, one of the charter members, that Louis A. Thompson was made the first secretary, although his name does not appear as one of the charter members. At any rate the local got started, won its spurs as a union organization and today is listed as one of the best locals in the I. T. U.

The International Typographical Union does more than just collect dues from its members. There is an insurance feature that means much to the family of a printer who has been called by death. There is the protection of an organized group back of each member, there is a home to which sick brothers are sent to recuperate. The old rule of every man for himself has been replaced by a "one for all and all for one" spirit.

But if the I. T. U. provides benefits for its members, it requires certain things in return. Before it takes in a man as a member he must have first filled his apprenticeship, he must have shown himself capable of working at the trade, he must have demonstrated qualifications as to character and he must be willing to abide by the rules.

"In union there is a strength," and the International Typographical Union has demonstrated that fact. Local 270's membership is proud of the affiliation with the International organization.

Trade Education Is Important For I. T. U. Members

Trade education has long been recognized as an important function of the International Typographical Union. The first step in this direction was the adoption of rules and regulations for selection and education of apprentices indentured in composing rooms under contract with local unions. The International Union has engaged in campaigns of education to induce employers to recognize their obligation to the apprentice. As a result of co-operation in this work the rules established by the Union for the government of apprentices have come to be generally recognized and accepted.

The course of instruction prepared by specialists in the various classes of work in the industry has come to be recognized and accepted by educators throughout the world. Completion of the course with satisfactory grades is a mandatory requirement for membership in the organization. It is recognized that competency is the key to success. The International Union has expended $336,089.16 for the purpose of trade education and seeks to establish standards of production as regards quantity and quality that can only be satisfactorily met by members of the organization. Thus the industry of the printer is inspired them to make a substantial contribution to the industry for the benefit of the coming generation of printers.

Health Campaign Great Help To Union Printers

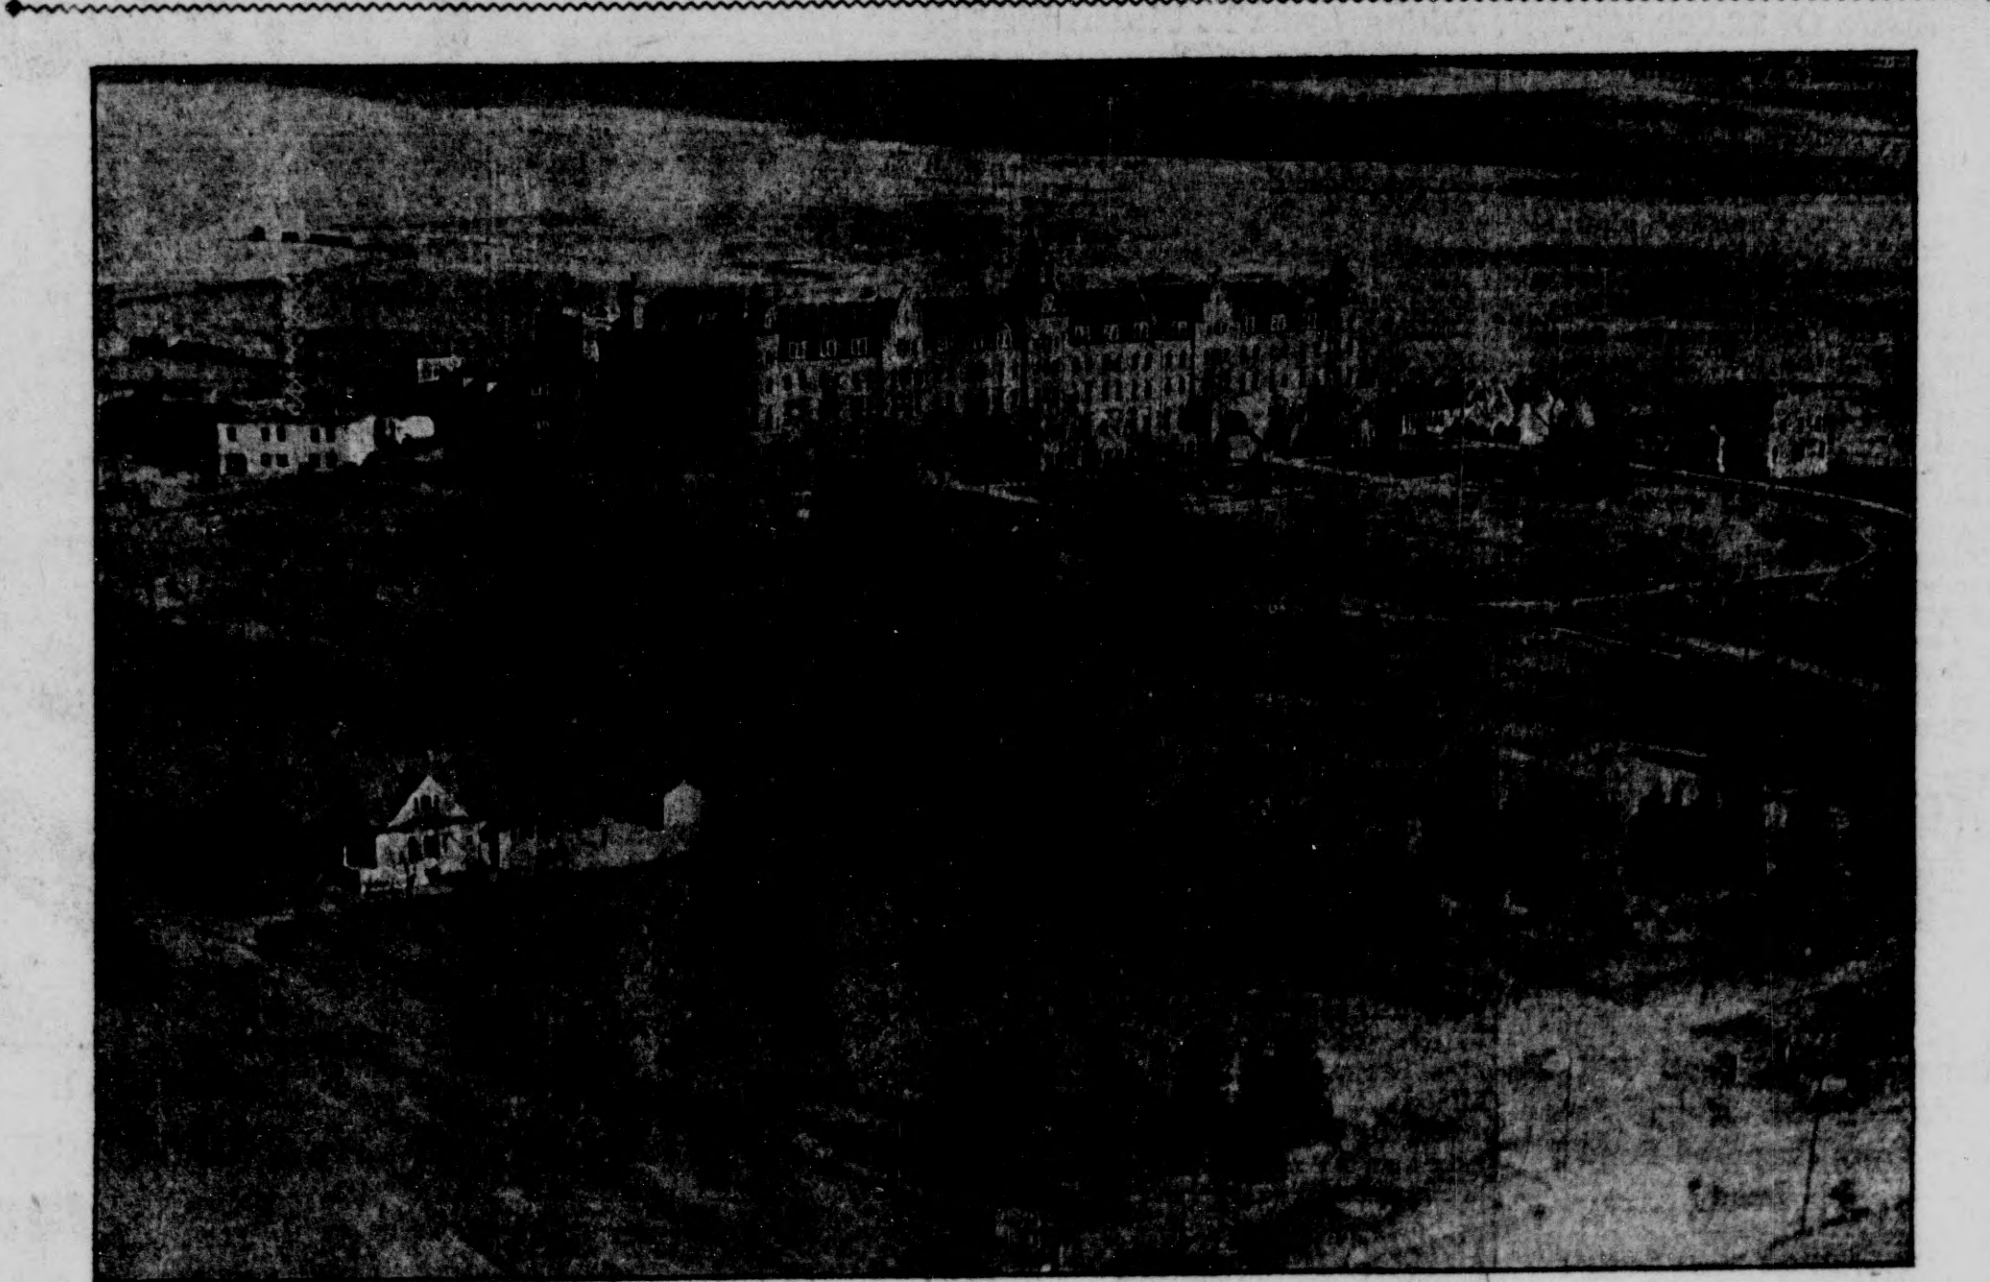

The International Typographical Union began a determined campaign for sanitary workrooms in the early part of the present century. Filthy, poorly lighted and poorly ventilated printing shops were the rule in those days, and the health of the printers suffered immeasurably because of this inexcusable condition. Today it is considered a disgrace for an employer to neglect any improvement in sanitation, and workrooms throughout the trade serve as models for many other industries.

Local unions working through sanitary committees to clean up insanitary conditions that may arise in composing rooms. In some communities these committees have the co-operation of state and city health bureaus. Employers have learned largely through the efforts of their organized employees, that it is poor economy to reduce efficiency of workmen by permitting surroundings that jeopardize health. The result has been a sweeping reform, and healthful, pleasant and comfortable working quarters are the rule where union workers are employed.

The outstanding result of the campaign for the healthful working surroundings, combined with the other activities fostered by the organization and so vital in the making of better citizens, both morally and physically, is attested to by the fact that the average life of the union printer has been more than doubled in 30 years.

And all this has been accomplished in the face of strongly organized opposition from the very beginning. What organization has done as much for humanity?

International Typographical Union Home, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Union Printers Home Houses 345 Residents

Has Been Developed And Maintained By Expenditures Of $5,554,621.56

The Union Printers Home at Colorado Springs, Colo., is the most widely known humanitarian activity of the International Typographical Union. It has been developed into one of the best known institutions of its kind in the world, and for forty years has stood as a haven of refuge for the sick and the aged.

The first unit of the institution was erected upon a barren piece of prairie donated by the board of trade of Colorado Springs in 1892. The original cost was approximately $70,000, of which $10,000 had been provided by George W. Childs and Anthony J. Drexel, Philadelphia philanthropists. Additional funds were made available by each union printer contributing the price he received for 1,000 ems of type at hand composition, which approximated an hour's wage.

At present the institution houses 345 residents and patients. Life is made as attractive as it is possible to make institutional living. Comfortable clothing, medicines, food, and all service is without cost to residents and patients. In addition a small cash pension is paid to provide for miscellaneous needs. Last year the average cost of maintenance for each resident was $77.68 per month—$932.16 for the year. This does not include interest on property account, or cost of repairs and extensions.

Thousands of tourists visit the institution each year, as it is one of the show places of Colorado Springs. In almost every section of America one can find a member of International Typographical Union who has been rehabilitated and returned to a life of usefulness as the result of a sojourn at the Union Printers Home. Its bounty is unparaphable; its charity without price.

The union label will come into its own only when it receives the unqualified support of those responsible for its introduction.

Conference Group Covers Three States

First Session Held At Meadville In 1916—Semi-Annual Meetings

The Western Pennsylvania Typographical Union Conference was organized through the untiring efforts of William Corliss of Scranton, Pa. The first meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Typographical Union Conference was held at Meadville, Pa., on Sunday, April 2, 1916.

It was decided to hold quarterly meetings and the second session was held at Greenville July 9, 1916, with 24 delegates in attendance and the organization moved along as smoothly as a piece of well-oiled machinery. The purpose of the organization was the interchange of ideas of the printing crafts and the bringing together of the jobless union printer and the vacant situation. The third quarterly meeting was held at New Castle in October, 1916. At the next session held in Butler in January, 1917, it was decided to meet semi-annually.

In 1917 the Conference reached into another state and annexed one of the best unions in the jurisdiction of the I. T. U., when Wheeling Union No. 79 was added to the roster. Since then Morgantown and Weirton are the other Mountain State towns which have seen the light.

Johnstown was the first union to entertain the Conference for the third time and Morgantown sent 14 persons to this session as visitors and delegates, carrying off the honors for having the largest delegation in attendance. After this session Cumberland, Md., union became affiliated, thus making the organization tri-state in scope.

Only once has the I. T. U. been appealed to for funds. During August, 1916, the sum of $200.00 was received from headquarters at Indianapolis to furnish the shawls of war during the swaddling clothes period.

From the date of inception until March, 1930, the body had but one person as president, Theodore Eichorn, of Erie. Much of the success of the body is due to his capable and clear-sighted stewardship. He was, for many years, a member of the commission which governed his native city. Ill health compelled his resignation and his death soon followed, removing from the labor movement one who could be illly spared. He had served Erie Typographical Union as secretary-treasurer for 25 years and the Erie Central Labor Union in the same capacities for a like tenure. Currently, Harry A. Werth of Butler, served as the Conference secretary-treasurer and the organization owes much to these able men.

The present officers are: J. R. Harris, Wheeling, W. Va., president; Jesse Boyle, Erie, Pa., first vice president; B. E. Debolt, Morgantown, W. Va., second vice president; W. A. Miller, Cumberland, Md., third vice president; C. S. Slick, Johnstown, Pa., secretary-treasurer.

International Typographical Union Headquarters, Indianapolis, Ind.

New Castle, Tin Center Of World, Is Important Part Of Keystone State

New Castle, tin manufacturing center of the United States, county seat of Lawrence county, one of the smaller of the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania, Keystone state, lies in the center of one of the greatest manufacturing districts of the world. With a city and suburban population of approximately 65,000 people, it can justly claim to be one of the really important integral parts of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Tradition has recorded that it bears its name because the man who first laid it out in 1798, John Carlyle Stewart, a civil engineer of marked ability, selected its name because of his love of his former place of residence, New Castle, Delaware. There are those who would like to trace its ancestry to that famous manufacturing city, New Castle-On-Tyne, England. In its activity as an industrial center, it might be considered as being the namesake of that famous English town.

Its present and past importance since the advent of the white man has been due to the fact that it lies at the junction of several important rivers, first the Shenango river and the Neshannock creek and second, the junction of the Shenango and Mahoning rivers, which form the mighty Beaver river, one of the more important tributaries of the Ohio river.

Even in the days of the Indians it was an important trading and business center. It was the location of the famous Indian capital, Kus-Kus-Ka, over which King Beaver, the famous Delaware chieftain, presided just prior to the intrusion of the white man in large numbers. Moravian missionaries visited the district prior to the settlement of John Carlyle Stewart and his group and are reputed to have brought Christianity to many Indians in this section as early as 1770.

Progress in this city in the earlier days was slow. But its residents were progressive and had a vision of the future. They had the small town incorporated as a borough on March 25, 1825. Lack of transportation facilities kept it back until in 1833, when the Erie canal was completed and opened for business. This was the beginning of its industrial importance.

Surrounded on every side by natural resources that tend to make any district an industrial center, such as abundant supplies of limestone, considerable coal, some oil and gas and even small deposits of iron ore, it was not much wonder that it became an iron manufacturing center at a very early period after the opening of a means of transportation.

Some of the first furnaces in this section of the country were in operation during the years following the opening of the canal. Iron and allied products made here began to find their way to the outside world and the community began to grow. Its importance was increased on September 1, 1849, when it became the county seat of Lawrence county, set up on that date from parts of Mercer and Beaver counties. It became a city of the third class February 25, 1869.

Railroads played perhaps the greatest part in the development of the district. In 1863, the New Castle and Beaver Valley railroad was completed, connecting New Castle with the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad at Homewood. Shortly afterward a railroad was completed from New Castle to Girard. Another was completed in a few years to Youngstown and then to Franklin and all being leased to the Pennsylvania railroad, placed the city in direct touch with the greater part of the United States.

In rapid succession then followed its steel mill, tin mills, can works, pottery and numerous industries, many of which are known today throughout the world. Besides having the largest tin mill in the world operated by the American Sheet & Tin Plate company, it has the largest pottery in the world, the Shengango Pottery.

New Castle and Lawrence county have ever been loyal to this country. In every war, since its existence, it has sent forth the flower of its youth to maintain the integrity of the United States. In the Civil war days it became known as "Loyal Little Lawrence" because it gave so unsparringly of its manhood to the cause of the Union.

It has one of the finest school systems in the country. Its children are afforded the best there is in the way of education. Religiously speaking, the community affords to the fullest possible measure that freedom of worship guaranteed by the constitution of the United States and every known religious belief is afforded an opportunity of practicing here.

In the matter of labor, this city has ever been known to give its workmen an opportunity of earning fair wages and this is best attested by the fact that its home owners are more numerous than in most communities of its size.

It has one of the finest public park systems in the country in the process of the making, due to the foresight of its city fathers in past years and recent generosity of its more fortunate residents.

It has two of the finest hospitals in the country, the Jameson Memorial and the New Castle hospital. Its banks have proven to be among the best managed in the entire country. In fact there is every reason to be glad to be a resident of New Castle.

Newspaper service, it is fortunate, having the New Castle News, one of the finest publications of its kind in the country and ranking with publications in much larger centers of population.

In area New Castle is one of the larger cities of the state of Pennsylvania, including within its corporate limits something like 5,172 acres and approximately 8.2 square miles. It has nearly one hundred miles of sanitary sewers and one of the finest sewage disposal plants in the United States. Approximately sixty miles of its streets are improved. It is the center of several of the main improved highways of western Pennsylvania, making travel to every part of the country easy and pleasant. In The Castleton, it has one of the finest hotels to be found.

Located as it is in the hills of western Pennsylvania, it is surrounded by some of the most beautiful scenery in the United States. Its health conditions are ideal. In fact, New Castle will be found to be a good place to be, and its hospitality is such that you will be sure to want to come back again.

Patriotism Marks I. T. U.; 400 Killed In Big World War

Men of the intelligence, courage and loyalty required to build such an organization as the I. T. U. could not be other than good patriots. Records are not available to reveal the number of printers who participated in the Revolutionary War, but the craft was notably represented in those troublous times by one Benjamin Franklin, whose effectiveness and range of activities equalled the merit of at least one army. The War of 1812 brought to the colors a company of union printers under the command of David H. Reins, secretary of the New York Typographical Society, and in Philadelphia the Typographical Society "appropriated" a day's labor for each of its members on fortifications to protect that city against the British. The Philadelphia society also provided financial assistance for wives of all members absent in their country's service.

The Civil War claimed many printers, including the president of the National Typographical Union, and the union performed a valuable service in healing the wounds of the nation at the conclusion of that conflict by bringing together printers of the North and the South in a renewal of the old fraternal spirit.

The great World War found the I. T. U. lined up in the front ranks, concentrating its full energies and influence in behalf of democracy. Over 4,000 made the supreme sacrifice.

Encourage the dealer in union-labeled merchandise. He will appreciate your support and your approval of his judgment.

Only a printer? His magic trade Preserves earth's sweetest story well; Of how on Calvary's cruel tree The Saviour died to make men free. A prophet he— For by his art he makes the Book Wherein the weary soul may look, And looking see the promise blest Of home and love and endless rest— Eternity.

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 14:19—"Because I live, ye shall live also."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 23 is Mark 9:30-50, the Golden Text being Romans 13-10: "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; love therefore is the fulfillment of the law.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

A week before our Lord's glorious transfiguration he announced clearly to his disciples the necessity and nature of his death on the cross. In the midst of the glory of the transfiguration this was the topic of the conversation between the Lord and Moses and Elijah. Now a week or so later the transfiguration as they journey southward through Galilee the cross is still the subject of his teachings.

The Cross for Christ

"For he taught his disciples and said unto them, The Son of man is delivered up into the hands of men and they shall kill him; and when he is killed, after three days he shall rise again. But they understood not the saying, and were afraid to ask him." Take a person who knows he should consult a physician or surgeon but who fears to do so because he is afraid to face the facts, so these disciples dreaded the disclosure of the stern necessity of the cross. It was not clear to them but it was clear enough that they feared to have it made any more clear.

The Cross for Disciples

The reason they dreaded the cross for their Master was that they were unwilling to share the cross themselves. As he was telling them of his cross they were disputing among themselves as to which of them was the greatest. They were angling for crowns not crosses. Instead of entering into sympathy with their Master in the impending crisis of the cross they were figuring on how they could turn this crisis, whatever it was to be, to their own selfish advantage.

The Child in the Midst

To teach them the lesson they needed on humility and selfishness he said, "If any man would be first he shall be last of all and minister of all." To illustrate what he meant by this "he took a little child and set him in the midst of them; and taking him in his arms, he said unto them whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my name, receiveth me; and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth not me but him that sent me."

Tolerance Rebuked

In the light of this teaching about receiving the humblest and obscurest, John saw wherein they had but recently done wrong in discouraging a man whom they found casting out demons in Jesus name. Their reason for doing so was "Because he followed not us." Well, who did they think they were that the man should follow them? It should have been enough that the man followed Jesus and cast out demons in Jesus' name. But it hurt their dignity that "he followed not us." Jesus said "Forbid him not; for there is no man that shall do a mighty work in my name, and be able quickly to speak evil of me. . . . For whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink, because ye are Christ's, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward." Everything is to be revolved around Christ and not around us.

EVILS OF ALCOHOL TO BE TOLD CHILDREN

(International News Service)
DENVER, April 21.—An old-time temperance education program is to be launched in Colorado, according to plans of dry leaders in the state. The program will include instruction on the evils of alcohol to be taught in the schoolrooms of the state.

Among the leaders of the movement is Dr. F. S. Hannen of Greeley, Colo., whose scientific course on temperance has been adopted by the public schools of Brazil.

BEGGING BUSINESS BAD IN HARTFORD

(International News Service)
HARTFORD, Conn., April 21.—Panhandlers are avoiding Hartford despite its reputed wealth and beauty.

"Brother can you spare a dime?" queries netted Allen L. Curtis, 20, of Groveton, N. H., only $2.50 a day he told police.

"Other cities can be worked for $10 a day," Curtis said, "but Hartford's a tough spot."

HIGHWAY NAMED FOR OLD CHIEF OF APACHES

(International News Service)
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 21.—The name Geronimo, which once struck terror to the hearts of residents of the southwest, is to be preserved in a highway running between Douglas, Ariz., and Cloverdale, N. M., through the Peloncillo mountains.

Dedication ceremonies were held near the spot where the wily Apache chief surrendered to Gen. Nelson A. Miles after being brought back from old Mexico nearly a half century ago.

LEAD GUNNERS

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Fort Francis E. Warren, near here, has the best six machine gun companies in the United States, according to announcement from the war department. The companies won first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth places in competition with all other similar contingents in the standing army.

Twenty-One Have Chance To Start In Opening Game

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is carefully picking out Varsity Football Lineup

Fourteen Of Best Looking Candidates Are Veterans; New Men Look Good

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh is not wearing a very large smile these days, but nevertheless he is just a little bit pleased with the prospects of another winning team at New Castle High school this fall. Right now the spring night game with Campbell High is looming ahead for next Thursday night. The business of picking out a starting lineup from a group of 21 very fine looking young football men is the call of the hour.

New Castle's famed "Red Hurricane" of last year will be forgotten for the time being. You can hardly call this year's team a Hurricane before the blow. From the looks of things the 1933 team is going to be a strong one, however it is a little early to tell.

Fine Looking Squad
Fourteen of the young hopefuls who hope to start the Campbell game next week are veterans of last year. The remaining seven are new men who have caught the eye of the popular mentor.

From the following list Coach Bridenbaugh will pick his varsity lineup for next week—ends, Fred Shelleog, Miles, Perrett, Hitchens and Reiber; tackles, Alex Shelleog, Pakovitch, Gianni, Humphreys; guards, Raskowski, Sorto and Pasarella; centers, Howley and Billyk; quarterbacks, Ridley and Kneram; halfbacks, Nickum, Lane, Anderson, Fleming, Jones; fullbacks, Komino and McPeak. Walter Komino is the captain of this year's team.

Reports from Ohio reveal that Campbell High is taking this game quite seriously and are working out daily under the careful eye of Coach Dick Barrett. The Memorial High team was one of the strongest in Eastern Ohio and Youngstown district last year. The game here will not doubt be well attended. Campbell is preparing to send a fine delegation of rooters along with the team. Tickets have been placed on sale.

Joe Hartman Is Free Agent

Joe Hartman, athletic director of Grove City high school, spent several days in New Castle recently and while here said he has been declared a free agent this season which gives him the right to sign any team that may desire his pitching. ## Plan Probe Of Cleveland Bout

Mayor Ray T. Miller, Will Start Extensive Probe Into "Stalling"

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, O., April 21.—A "thorough investigation" into the Gorilla Jones-Ben Jeby fight which was halted at the end of the sixth round here Wednesday night because the middleweight fighters allegedly were stalling was ordered Thursday by Mayor T. Miller.

Terming it a "disgraceful affair," the mayor, in a letter to Al Sutphin, chairman of the Cleveland Boxing Association, said: "I suggest that you hold up the purses to be paid any of the parties involved, or who might be involved in this fiasco, cause an immediate and thorough investigation and bar from further participation any of the fighters, managers or promoters involved in this apparently fake fight."

"I should prefer to see boxing eliminated in Cleveland rather than see a repetition of Wednesday night's performance."

Sutphin carried out the mayor's orders and announced formally that the boxing commission would hold a probe next Tuesday morning.

Jones, Akron Negro, who is recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association, and Jeby, a New Yorker and title holder in the eyes of the New York State Athletic Commission, had been scheduled to fight for 12 rounds.

Union Gridders Taking Shape In Spring Workouts

Coach David M. Boyd is giving the Union high football team a good spring workout, and when the campaign starts in the fall the Unionists are going to be ready for the test. The Union team has been at the spring training business for almost three weeks now and are fast taking shape.

Boyd is faced with the necessity of finding men capable of filling the shoes of Endres, Sniezek, Stockman, Phillips and others and faces a tough task. The Union material for the most part is light and fast. The captain for this year is George.

Hubbell Pitches Excellent Game

Carl Hubbell On Mound For Giants Fans 13 Of Boston Braves

Jimmy Foxx Blasts Out Two Homers To Win Game For Athletics

By LES KONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer
NEW YORK, April 21.—From early indications, 1933 is to be a great year for major league pitchers. Low-hit games have been the rule, even with the weather wet and cold, and the pitching should improve when hot weather sets in. In ten days, Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx were the only players able to hit more than one home run.

The dozen clubs that played yesterday averaged but seven hits apiece. There were four four-hit games.

Hubbell In Shape
"Iron Man" Carl Hubbell, who has worked in all three of New York's games, pitched the Giants to a 1 to 0 shutout over Fred Frankhouse of the Boston Braves, yielding but four hits. The star southpaw fanned 13 men, winding up the game by striking out three sluggers—Schulmerich, Berger and Hosen. A triple by Davis and a single by Critz accounted for the only run.

The once mighty Athletics are in the American League cellar but they won't stay there long with Lefty Grove and Jimmy Foxx on the job. Grove, who has registered the Macken's only triumphs with two wins over Washington, beat the Senators 8 to 1, limiting them to four hits. Foxx, the home run king of the majors, drove in five runs with a single and his first and second circuit clouts of the year.

Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals dropped his second decision of the year to the Cubs, 3 to 1. Pat Malone was the winning hurler and Babe Herman drove in two runs.

Cleveland Wins
Clint Brown of Cleveland, turning in his second win of the campaign, won a keen duel from Vic Sorrell of Detroit, 3 to 1, as the Tigers' defense cracked. Cleveland collected five hits and Detroit four.

Manager Lew Fonseca and Al Simmons starred as the White Sox nosed out the Browns, 5 to 4. Fonseca drove in the winning run in the ninth, a few minutes after Simmons completed an unassisted double play by spearing Ferrell's short liner and running to second base to double Melillo, who had rounded third. Simmons also took the lead in the American League batting race.

The Phillies clubbed four Brooklyn pitchers for 13 hits and won in a romp, 10 to 2, with Elliott and Pearce limiting the Dodgers to 4 blows. Cy Moore, Philly pitcher, was taken to hospital with a broken nose after being hit by a line drive in batting practice, and outfielder Hal Lee pulled a charley horse and had to retire. Two other Phils, Whitney and Hurst, also are out of commission.

The Pirates, Reds and Red Sox did not play. The Yankees, undefeated in five American League games, lost an exhibition contest to Jersey City, 4 to 2.

Loughran is the favorite to win tonight because he will match a deft left hand against the dynamite of the Spanish tango artist.

Golfers Shying From Open Test

National Open Championship At Chicago Course Will Be Held June 8 Or 10

Less Than 80 Entries So Far —Entry List To Close May 2—Lack Of Interest

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor
NEW YORK, April 21.—For the first time since gold became a common matter, instead of a curio, the prestige of the National Open Championship is seriously challenged today.

It has the dates, June 8 to 10 inclusive. It has the site, North Shore's snugly trapped course at Chicago. It has the prize money, $5,000 to be split twenty ways. What it hasn't got is an adequate entry.

Usually by this time there are as many as 250 on the line. Today, there are less than 80, with the deadline, May 2, rapidly drawing near. If the business don't come on with something of a rush in the comparative few days remaining, the 1933 event can't and won't be a truly representative meeting, at least not in the matter of man-power.

Not Many Entries
These facts were guardedly admitted today at the headquarters of the United States Golf Association, with the further statement that last year's grand total of entries was 1,012. To approach that under existing conditions, business will have to take a brisk upward turn. To equal it would mean a deluge.

The answer? The United States Golf Association blames the lack of early response to the fact that the championship dates were suddenly advanced, with the result that most of the field isn't yet aware that the affair is drawing near.

They expect an overnight rush to get in under the gun or before May 2. What they can't expect, and probably don't is general response from the lower-middle class of golf professionals, in the face of the fact that, while individual finances are dubious, the rewards of championship play are all too few.

Swimming Team Sets New Mark

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 21.—A quartet of Illinois Athletic Club swimmers today held a new world record for the 500 yard relay, having covered the distance in 4:26.4 last night in the Central A. A. U. meet here. The former record was 4:28.2.

The club's water polo team won its second successive national championship by defeating the University of Illinois 8 to 4 in the finals of the annual tournament.

Start Soon To Draft Schedule

Indications Point To Eleven Teams Being In The County Circuit

SEASON TO OPEN IN EARLY MAY

Indications are the Lawrence County Twilight Baseball League will consist of 11 teams, according to Prexy Bill Andrews. Forty-eight hours grace given any strong team that desired to join the loop has expired.

The league, by vote of the managers, was divided into two circuits, the National and American. Six teams had been granted franchises in each but Lawrence Independents withdrew from the National loop.

Vice-President Alec Samuels and Cam Sacco, named as a schedule committee had held up schedule making but are expected to proceed immediately with the draft. A split season will prevail and each team will play 15 games in each half, if present plans materialize.

The managers are signing players and getting ready for the opening of the season which is scheduled to occur the first week of May.

A new "hygrostat" has been invented that automatically controls the humidity of the air in a room.

Ticker Is Swamped As Huge
Buying Orders Reach
Market

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 21.—Wall Street's new speculative fever abated somewhat today as the dollar showed rallying tendencies and gilt-edged bonds staged a strong recovery.

The rails were taken in hand at the opening and whirled up 1 to more than 6 points. The rest of the market continued to meet heavy profit-taking and sold down 1 to more than 3 points before fresh buying was attracted.

The ticker was again swamped by huge buying orders running to 25,000 shares and quickly fell 9 minutes behind.

The opening in the rails was spectacular, with gains running from 1 to more than 5 points in the volatile Delaware and Hudson.

N. Y. Central was a feature with an opening block of 25,000 shares at 25, up 4 points. Pennsylvania came out with 15,000 shares, Union Pacific and Lackawanna opened about an hour late at big advances. The utilities, the feature at yesterday's close, were down sharply. The steels and mining shares likewise ran into a slight reaction, as did the other pacemakers of the boom the last two days. United Aircraft, however, came to life with a 2 point run-up, and the oils were strong and active.

The whole aviation group met a rush of buying in the second hour and rushed up sharply.

Ramey Winner
Over Champion

Wesley Ramey, Grand Rapids, Michigan Boxer Defeats Tony Canzoneri

TITLE NOT AT STAKE IN BOUT

(International News Service)
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 21.—Wesley Ramey, sensational young Grand Rapids fighter, was the uncrowned king of lightweights today, after the decisive whipping he administered last night to Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion of the world.

Canzoneri's title was not at stake, Ramey having built himself up to 136 pounds—one pound over the lightweight limit—to avoid placing the crown in jeopardy. Canzoneri weighed 133.

The decision of Referee Elmer "Slim" McClelland was received by the crowd of 5,500 spectators without a dissenting voice.

Hampered By Blood.
Canzoneri, who defends his title in June against Barney Ross, was hampered through the last six rounds of the bout by a cut which Ramey opened over his left eye, and a gash in his eye. Blood running into his eyes bothered the champion seriously.

Ramey came out of the fight with nothing more serious than a bloody nose.

Ramey got the jump on the champ and kept it, his boxing skill offsetting Canzoneri's rushes. At times he outgott the champion, who appeared to be sluggish.

Hampered By Canzoneri.
Ramey took a good lead in the first, but ran into a severe left hook that damped his ardor for a while. For four rounds they fought at a rapid clip, the champion forcing but being outpointed. His eye was cut in the fifth. After that he began to fight savagely, and desperately, but he was unable to do any serious damage to the Michigan lad. He succeeded in taking only the eighth round out of the last six.

"He's a fine young fighter and earned the decision tonight," the blood-spattered champion said afterward. "I believe he has a chance at the championship and I'm perfectly willing to give it to him."

ATHLETIC FIELD
BEING REPAIRED

North End To Be Graded And
Then Field Moved, School
Officials State

ELLWOOD CITY, April 21.—A large crew of workmen with the aid of the city street department is busy today grading Lincoln Athletic field here.

According to the plans of the school board the little hill on the north end of the field which is next to the school building will be leveled off and graded. This will make the field better fit for baseball.

The purpose behind this step is to move the athletic field over towards the North and away from the South fence. The bleachers there will also be moved and thus make it more difficult for anyone to climb the fence.

The board was compelled to abandon their plans of placing soil on the field since no other near the school is available for practice.

Victory Hoped For 'Y' Drive

Campaign For 1000 Members
To End Tonight; Teams
Rushed Today

Hopeful that victory will crown the efforts of the 28 campaign teams which will report to the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 6:15 o'clock for the final rally of their intensive four-day membership drive, Y. officials went eagerly about making preparations for the dinner today.

General Chairman Fred L. Reitz and his division chairmen like the Y officials, were optimistic about tonight's report.

To send the canvass at least to its goal the workers must submit tonight a total of 1,000 new members and $2,000 in cash. Already, or by last Tuesday night, 333 of the 1,000 members and $675.20 of the $2,000 in cash had been reported.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Some of the fish experts are cooled. Cooled chiller than a dime's worth of dry ice. And all because of a "seven and a half pound trout" that was a pickler.

The joker in the case is not given to fishing in habit forming quantities. He can take it or leave it alone. And usually leaves it alone. This year a brother-in-law pestered him into getting a license and they went out to Hettenbaugh Run.

The luck was just so and so. That is until about dusk when the joker began to yell for help. He had a big one on the hook. The line broke and he pulled out a revolver to shoot the varmint. The gun jammed and he jumped into the water just as the brother-in-law arrived.

A short struggle in the water and the victory was won. Panting he laid the fish upon the bank. Twenty five inches long and seven and a half pounds in weight. The brother-in-law didn't have enough fish to get half a dozen scales. And there was the evidence of what could be done.

The lad who caught it had it exhibited next day, dressed, that is the fish was dressed. Well, so was he if you must get technical, but on display the prize fish attracted more than just some attention. For a little while he was right in the middle of the spotlight of public attention but the joke got too good to keep.

He had bought a 25 inch pickler before the trip started. Secreted it under his coat, which is no place for even a fresh fish, and then slipped it onto the hook out in Hettenbaugh Run. And the one fisherman who thought it was a pike and warned his friend against mentioning it feels rather blah today.

East Washington street reminds you of a long line of skirmishers the past few days. The street repairs are going on, along a long front, with the state forces advancing rapidly under heavy hammering. Much of the paving block taken out can be used again after a little cleaning and the tap, tap, tap of the cleaning hammer can be heard like some chorus.
